THE CONGREGATION of the Bunker Hill Methodist Church off the Seachrist Road, north of Salem, is seeking a new place to worship today following destruction of the church Saturday night by the storm. The church, shown above, was left a pile of rubble. The nearby newly-built parsonage was unscathed.

LIKE GIANT PLAYING CARDS, these heavy sheets of flagstone walk were ripped up by uprooted trees on Leetonia's Columbia St. Fallen trees blocked many streets in the village after Saturday night's windstorm. The one above also ripped down utility lines across the street.

AREA MOPS UP AFTER DISASTROUS STORM

Nine Persons Hurt In Road Accidents

Nine persons were injured in three traffic accidents on area highways during the weekend, the State Highway Patrol reported today.

Four Salem persons were injured at 11:30 p.m. Saturday when the auto in which they were riding went off the right side of the road on a curve at a high rate of speed and rolled over on Rt. 9, five miles south of Salem. The injured were taken to Salem Central Clinic.

The driver of the car, John T. Hill Jr., 23, of 409 W. Pershing St., is in fair condition with serious internal injuries and a ruptured spleen.

A passenger in the vehicle, Marvin Grace, 22, of 450 Columbia St., is also in fair condition with a bruised chest, bruised ankle and a possible skull concussion. George Shirey, 23, of RD 5, Salem is in good condition with lacerations of the forehead. Another passenger, Clarence Shoemaker, 29, of RD 5, Salem, was treated for lacerations of the head and released.

Three persons were treated at the Central Clinic following an accident on Tower Road, about five miles southwest of Salem, at 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

The driver of the car, Robert T. Cline, 16, of Columbiana was treated for back and shoulder injuries. Two passengers in the auto, Linda Ferguson, 17, of Beloit, and Sally Hughes, 16, of Sebring, were treated for shock and body bruises.

According to patrolmen, Cline lost control of his auto when it was rounding a curve, causing it to go off the left side of the road and roll over. He was cited to juvenile court for reckless operation. The car received considerable damage.

Emerson J. Nihart, 23, of 315 W. Pershing St. and Clarence Fathery, 18, of Lisbon suffered fractures of the body in a two-car collision on the Depot Road, three miles south of Salem, at 10:10 p.m. Saturday.

According to patrolmen, a car driven by Samuel H. Parks, 20, of Lisbon attempted to pass Nihart's auto on a hill crest and pulled into his car to avoid an oncoming auto. Both vehicles received heavy damages.

Nihart and Fathery were treated by a physician. Parks was arrested for drunk driving.

Hays To Ask Solution To Leetonia Problem

Congressman Wayne L. Hays, apprised of the flood caused in Leetonia by Saturday's severe rains, said today he will ask the Army Engineers to continue their efforts to find a solution to the village's flood problem.

The engineers completed a survey of the Leetonia situation at his request recently, Hays said, and reported that the cost of instituting a flood control project there would be out of proportion to the benefits that would result.

Hays said he will work with Congressman Michael Kirwin in whose district is located the watershed which feeds Beaver Creek, to see if a beneficial program cannot be worked out among the Soil Conservation Department, Corps of Army Engineers and the local government.

MATTHEWS TO SPEAK

W. H. Matthews will speak on "The Lewis and Clark Expedition" when the Rotary Club meets Tuesday noon in the Memorial Building. He will illustrate his talk with colored slides.

Windstorm Kills Six In Cleveland

69 Injured; Damage Reaches Millions

CLEVELAND (AP)—Relief crews and property owners today were clearing debris left by a disastrous windstorm that killed six persons and caused property damage in Greater Cleveland estimated by police at "several million dollars."

As the mopping up from Saturday night's storm was in progress Sunday, the toll of injured continued to mount. At least 69 persons had been treated for storm injuries at hospitals last night. Most of them were released.

Winds up to 73 m.p.h., accompanied by heavy rainfall in most areas, caused the heaviest damage in the west suburbs of Lakewood and Rocky River and the south Cleveland area.

3 Die In Tavern

A man and two children were killed in the collapse of Scenery Tavern in south Cleveland. Two men were electrocuted when they touched live wires and a youth was crushed to death when a tree fell on his automobile.

As hundreds were clearing trees and fallen power lines from blocked streets, the U. S. Weather Bureau Sunday afternoon issued a warning of severe thunderstorms and possible isolated tornadoes in northern Ohio. The alert was lifted eight hours later after the danger had passed.

About 1,500 civil defense auxiliary police and other volunteers augmented the regular police force in directing traffic and clearing the streets. Most of the streets were open to traffic last night.

1½ Million In Damages

Mayor J. Frank Gibson of Lakewood estimated damage in that suburb at more than 1½ million dollars. Lakewood police estimated more than 600 trees were felled, ripping down power lines and blocking traffic.

Police in Rocky River said damage there would run about five million dollars.

Cleveland Safety Director John N. McCormick said total damage would run to "several million dollars" after he made a tour of the stricken areas with Mayor Frank J. Celebrezze and Police Chief Frank W. Story.

The dead were identified as: Sidney A. Odom Jr., 19, killed when a tree felled by the wind

C. D. Harris, Printing Firm Owner, Charter Rotarian, Dies

Charles Dixon Harris (Dick), 78, owner of the Harris & Co. label printing shop, died Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Salem City Hospital. He had been ill one week following a cerebral hemorrhage. He was a charter member of the Rotary club.

Harris & Co., printers, specialists in labels, has been owned and operated by the same family for 90 years. Dr. John Harris and Augustus H. Harris bought the company in 1866 from Isaac Wright. Charles W. Harris purchased it in 1876. He operated the printing firm until his death in 1929 when his son, C. Dixon Harris took over the business.

Born April 18, 1878, he was the son of Charles W. and Maria Greenawald Harris.

His first wife, the former Marie MacDonald, whom he married in 1910, died in 1917. He married Marguerite Wilson Harroff in 1945. She survives, together with a daughter, Julia Eleanor Merkt; a granddaughter, Dixon MacDonald Merkt; a brother, Augustus E. Harris of Virginia Beach, Va.; a step-daughter, Mrs. Robert H. Johnson of Norwalk, Conn.; and a nephew, Harris D. Harris of Salem.

Two sisters, Mrs. Mary Layne and Mrs. Edna Trepewitz, and a brother, Frank, preceded him in death.

He was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church and had served as a trustee. He joined the Salem Rotary Club the first year it was organized and held a 20-year perfect attendance record until an illness at Christmas time.

He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a charter member of the Salem Golf Club of which he served as secretary for a number of years.

Service will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church, where the body will lie in state from 12 to 1:30 p.m. Rev. A. Laten Carter will officiate. Burial will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home at this evening.

Put Out Car Fire, Answer False Alarm

City firemen extinguished a fire, caused by defective wiring in an auto at Mill St. and S. Ellsworth Ave. at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

The car, owned by Richard Stiffler, of MC 1, Salem, received only light damage.

Firemen answered a false alarm at the C. B. Hunt and Son Co. at 1900 E. Pershing St. at 7:05 p.m. Saturday.

Five From Niles Killed In Crash

Two Others Die After Two-Car Collision

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP) — Five members of an Ohio family and two New Castle men were killed last night in a head-on auto crash near here.

Three of the five children who survived were reported in critical condition today.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Markwell, of Niles, Ohio, were returning to their home with their eight children after a mother's day visit with Mrs. Markwell's mother, Mrs. Clara Collidge of Tarentum, Pa.

Markwell Dies Instantly

Markwell, a 38-year-old steelworker, was killed instantly. So was his 33-year-old wife, Dorothy, who was expecting a ninth child in two weeks.

The Markwell children killed were Mary, 15; Ruthanne, 12 and William, 8.

The other Markwell children and their injuries: Susan, 2, both hips broken; Tommy, 3, severe forehead laceration; Robert, 6, broken left hip; Dorothy, 13, possible skull fracture and both hips broken; Cecilia, 7, deep shock.

State police said Allen M. Fitzpatrick, 30, driver of the auto which collided with the Markwell car, died instantly. His lone passenger, 30-year-old Roscoe Williams, died three hours after the crash on Route 422 about 10 miles west of New Castle.

State police said the autos "practically disintegrated on impact." Pfc. Arnold Fonesca declared:

"Both cars apparently pulled out into the center lane of the highway at the same time to make passes. They met with such terrific impact that Fitzpatrick's car flew right up into the air . . . It landed on top of the car it was passing. The car was damaged but its driver wasn't hurt."

4 Motorists Fined $235, Costs In Lisbon

LISBON — Four motorists were fined a total of $235 and costs at hearings in Mayor Wilbur Warren's Court over the weekend and another forfeited a $20 bond when he failed to appear on a charge of failing to stop within the assured clear distance ahead.

Fined were Harold V. Shepard of Lisbon, $100 and costs and three days in jail, driving while intoxicated; Mark M. Hufford of Canton, $100 and three days in jail for the same offense; Harold Dowling, RD 1, Kensington, $15 and costs, reckless operation; John R. Reed, 25, RD 2, East Liverpool, $10 and costs for reckless operation.

Charles J. Lane, 22, of Ravenna forfeited the bond.

Leetonia, Goshen Districts Hardest Hit; Loss Is Heavy

Residents and workers are continuing clean-up and repair operations today following the disastrous storm which ravaged the district Saturday night.

The sleet and rain-bearing winds which approached tornadoic force, caused damages in this area estimated in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Losses in Salem, however, were relatively minor.

Leetonia, already reeling from a severe flood which paralyzed the village Saturday morning, suffered the brunt of the storm's fury. One estimate set the total damages at "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Leetonia Police Chief Henry Gibson stated, "Saturday morning they tried to drown us out and Saturday night they tried to blow us out. Leetonia looks like Miami Beach (Fla.) after a hurricane."

Though damage in the village was heavy, no injuries were reported.

The winds, which blew only about 15 minutes in Leetonia, left the village with impassable streets and without lights, water and gas.

The storm entered Leetonia a few hundred feet south of the Pennsylvania Railroad line and followed a west-east path primarily along Columbia and Summer Sts., about two blocks south of the business district. Trees lining both streets were leveled. Police counted 21 trees down on Columbia St. alone.

Falling trees pulled down power lines, leaving most of the town without lights. Telephone service, however, was only slightly affected.

At 2 a.m. Sunday, a falling tree smashed a fire hydrant on the main water line from the reservoir, requiring the water to be shut off to the entire village. Residents were without water until 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Loss of power forced police to communicate with cruisers by battery-powered walkie-talkies.

Fortunately no fires broke out in Leetonia. Firemen and Civil Defense workers labored Sunday to clear paths through streets made impassable by fallen trees. Police Chief Gibson and the State Highway Patrol praised the work of the Civil Defense workers who labored around the clock clearing rubble and trees and directing traffic.

Leetonia women assisted by making coffee and sandwiches and carrying them to the workers.

Falling Trees Cause Damages To Homes

Falling trees caused most of the damage to homes in Leetonia. On Columbia St. 12 houses were damaged and others were hit on Walnut St. and W. Main St. Many windows were blown out and some roofs were torn from houses by the wind.

Antennas throughout the village were blown down.

Police reported the wind ripped the top from a convertible automobile while it was crossing the railroad tracks, without injuring the four occupants of the vehicle. Other autos were damaged by falling trees.

The State Highway Patrol, which had a unit posted at Leetonia throughout the night, reported that highways into the village will not be cleared until sometime today.

Glenn Harding, district manager of the Ohio Edison Co., said Leetonia was in "terrible shape" in regards to electrical power. The winds disrupted electrical service in many other rural areas.

Closer to Salem, damages were extremely heavy along the Goshen Road and Rt. 165.

The Bunker Hill Methodist Church off the Seachrist Road was leveled, but the nearby, newly built parsonage was undamaged. Loss totaled thousands of dollars.

A lumber storage building at the Joseph Bogar Pattern Shop at the intersection of Rt. 165 and the Stratton Road was blown down, causing a loss estimated in the thousands of dollars by the owner. The storm also blew down the chimney of the Bogar home, tore off a section of the roof and uprooted a number of trees.

So severe was the wind that it scattered a pile of ash planks, 2 inches thick, 14 inches wide and 14 feet long. Several of the planks were hurled 200 feet away.

Bogar said, "Things were flying around like papers." He and his

Mishaps Claim 29 In Ohio

19 Die In Traffic,
Six Through Storms

By The Associated Press
Ohio's weekend fatality toll was up well above normal. At least six deaths were attributed to severe windstorms that pounded northeastern Ohio.

An Associated Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed 29 persons died accidentally throughout the state, 19 in traffic mishaps.

Surveys of previous weekends have usually showed the number of deaths to be under 20.

In the storm fatalities, most of them in the Greater Cleveland area, one man died when a tree blew down on top of his car; two others were electrocuted when they touched fallen wires; three persons, two of them children, were crushed to death when a tavern collapsed; and one youth was swept away in a flooded drainage ditch.

One freak accident killed a Columbus man. He apparently had gotten under his car to fix a stuck accelerator when the vehicle suddenly rolled off.

Another Columbus man burned to death in a bedroom fire.

A Circleville man was believed to have drowned while wading in a creek.

But there was a happy ending to another incident in which three persons were feared drowned. Their boat was found washed ashore with the motor running at Buckeye Lake near Newark.

Before dragging operations could begin, they turned up safe and sound. They told sheriff's deputies they found a nice spot along the shore and left the boat with the motor still running.

The list of fatalities:

Friday night:

John Love, 27, Shelby, when a car in which he was riding was struck by a train just east of Ohio 2 near the Sandusky Bay Bridge.

Mildred Leahy, 48, Ashtabula, in a two-car crash on U.S. 20, about 6 1/2 miles southwest of that city.

John Michael Willis, 6, Akron, when he dashed in front of a car near his home.

Saturday:

Mrs. Shirley Haywood, 20, Dayton, thrown from a car after it hit a curb and turned over in the city.

Ray M. Kotcher, 25, Cleveland, when his car plowed into a freight train at a railroad crossing in Euclid (Cuyahoga County).

Air Force Lt. David Lee Sebold, 25, Middletown, when the car in which he was riding left Ohio 134 and hit a utility pole, five miles north of Wilmington.

Frank Brockmyer, 57, Columbus, when his car rolled over on him as he was apparently trying to adjust the accelerator, in Columbus.

William Homer Winland, 69, East Cambridge, struck by a train in Cambridge.

Mrs. Beryl Spangler, 47, Dayton, in a two-car crash at the intersection of Ohio 48 and 73, north of Lebanon.

John Katzenmeyer, 47, Saybrook Twp., when his car collided with a truck on U.S. 20 near Geneva (Ashtabula County).

Deborah Campbell, 5, Sheffield Lake, hit by an auto as she ran from behind a parked car in Cleveland.

Joe David Minturn, 21, Columbus, when his auto plunged over an embankment on Sunbury Road, just northeast of Columbus.

Edwin Dale Brown, 36, Rt. 1, Williamstown, when his car turned over on a curve on Ohio 67, about 13 miles west of Kenton.

Sidney A. Odom Jr., 19, George B. Balogh, 64, Frank Marohnic, 53, Joseph Peets, 28, Robert Adams, 7, and his brother, Leonard, 5, all of Cleveland, during a violent windstorm in the city.

Odom was killed when a huge tree was blown down on top of his car; Balogh and Marohnic were electrocuted when they picked up fallen wires, and Peets and the Adams boys were crushed to death in the collapse of a tavern.

Sunday:

Michael Rose, 86, Cleveland, struck by a hit-skip driver in the city.

James Alfred Hayes Jr., 32, Columbus, in a two-car collision in the city.

Walter E. Carter, 56, Columbus.

ROCKY ROAD TO ROMANCE — Elaine Milton, 21, of Dayton and her fiance, John Sideris, 31, handsome Greek fishmonger, stand together for engagement picture in Athens, Greece. Mrs. George Milton and Elaine, her daughter, went to Greece to meet Sideris after American relatives of Sideris suggested that he might make a good husband for Elaine. Mrs. Milton told police that Sideris' parents pinioned her arms when Elaine ran off with Sideris. Elaine denied that she was kidnapped, saying: "I love John and we are going to be married."

in a bedroom fire in his apartment.

William Edward Gilbert, 63, Mount Vernon, when the car in which he was riding hit a bridge railing on U.S. 62 south of Danville (Knox County).

Wayne Cummings, 41, Xenia, after his car failed to make a curve on a county road and smashed into a tree south of that city.

Ernest J. Cooper, 72, Perry Twp., struck by an automobile on U.S. 20 about two miles east of North Madison (Lake County).

Ronald Saverko, 16, a sophomore at Boardman High School in Mahoning County, when he stepped out of his car into a flooded ditch and was carried one-half mile into Boardman Lake.

la., and Virginia Potts, 25, East Liverpool.

Russell Jones, 42, laborer, East Palestine and Carol Jones, 28, Columbiana.

Robert H. Morris, 26, Air Force, Lisbon, RD 4, and Beverly A. Burson, 21, East Palestine.

Andrew Anderson Jr., 19, laborer, Mechanicstown, RD 1, and Betty Freeman, 19, laborer, Salineville.

Dorman G. DeLoudier, 22, of Youngstown and Sarah Mae Valentine, 18, Wellsville.

Edward Hawkins, 67, press operator, Salem and Myrtle E. Hively, 68, RD 4, Salem.

Curtis C. Davis, 42 truck driver, Salem and Mary Anderson, 29, potter, Salem.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles
Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. Columbiana Legion Post Will Elect Officials Tonight

COLUMBIANA—Nominations for the election of officers are scheduled for the meeting of Firestone American Legion Post in the post home at 8 p.m. today, the election to take place Monday, May 28. Installation of the 1956-57 post officers is set for Monday evening, June 25, when Commander Charles James plans to have a district or state Legion official present to assist. Herbert Souder, Cy McLaughlin and George Snook constitute the nominating committee to report this evening.

An important matter of business this evening will be consideration of bids to provide awnings and air conditioning for the second floor of the Legion home. A decision is desired so that if favorable, work may be started as soon as possible. A motion picture on hunting dogs will be shown.

Firestone Post plans to enter a team in a Columbiana County Junior American Legion Baseball League, with Salem, East Palestine and East Liverpool, of the league last year, and Wellsville and Lisbon, new entrants this year. John Ellis of Firestone Post is chairman of the county league.

Dean Johnson, chairman of local baseball activities, has set tryouts for a Firestone Post team for Thursday, Boys of the 13-18 age bracket are invited, and those tied up in school sports are urged to report when they can, although they will be eligible regardless. The opening game for the Columbiana American Legion Post will be played Sunday, June 3, probably at Firestone Park.

FIRESTONE AMERICAN Legion Post Auxiliary will have its annual mother-daughter banquet at Dixon School at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. The May business meeting of the auxiliary will follow the banquet.

Columbiana County Council of the Legion Auxiliary will meet with the unit of Post 374 in East End, East Liverpool, tomorrow evening, when there will be a memorial service for county members who have died in the last three years. Columbiana members may arrange transportation by calling Mrs. Janice Sponseller, president of Firestone Auxiliary.

East Fairfield Methodist mother-daughter banquet will be served by the Friendly class of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church in Grace Church dining room at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

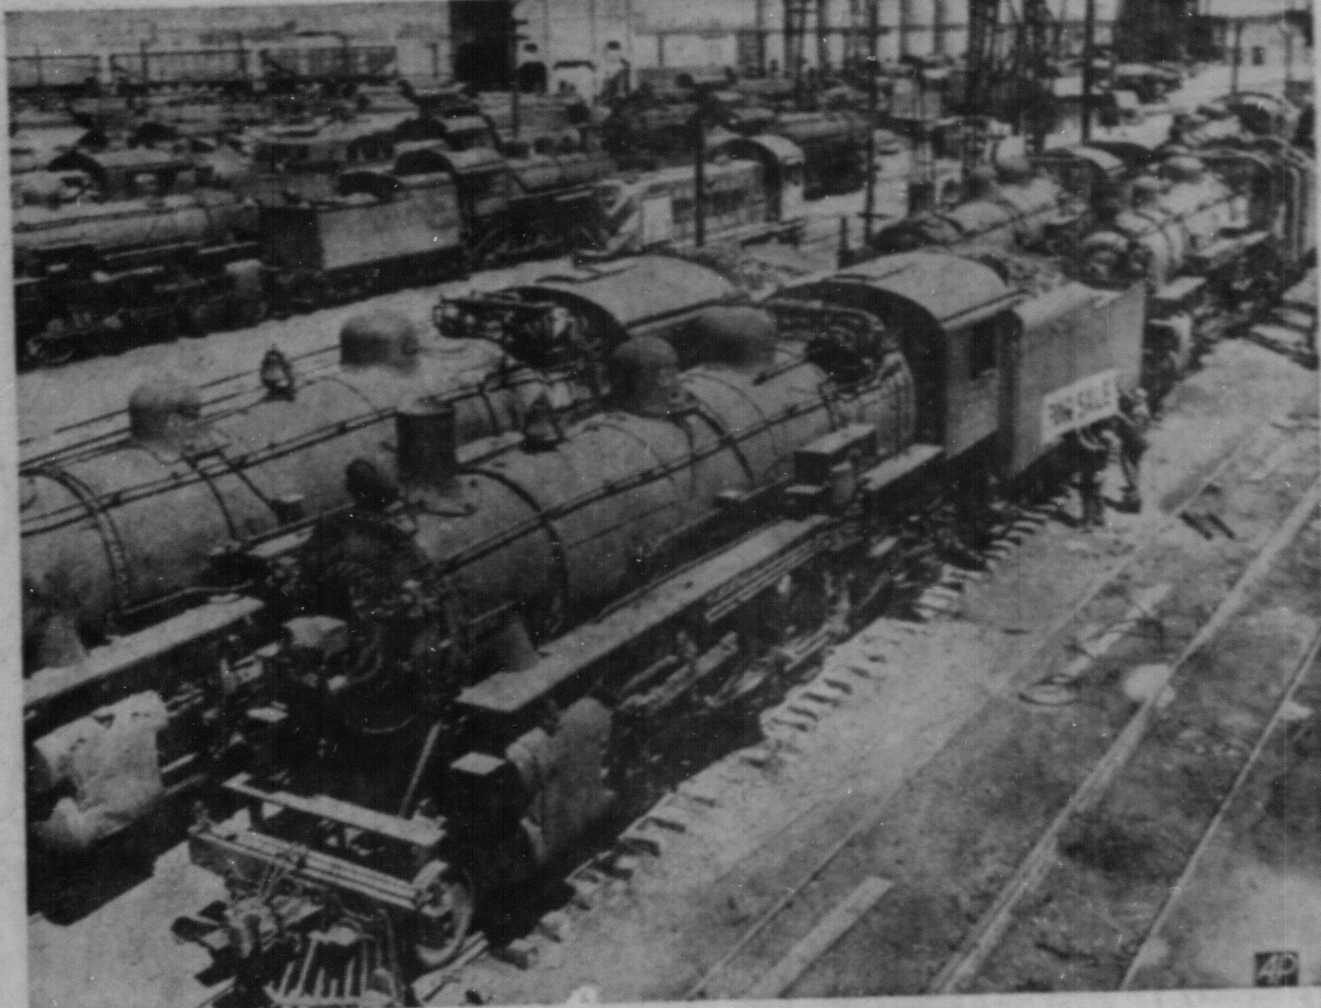

About 250 attended the mother-daughter coverdinner in Grace Church, Friday evening. Mrs. Wilbur Weber served as toastmistress, and Mrs. John Carr and daughter, Laurie, gave the mother and daughter responses. The theme of the evening, "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star," was carried out in table decorations. Musical numbers by children were included in the program.

Columbiana Ground Observer Corps will meet in city hall at 8 p.m. tomorrow, when awards will be made for sky watch duty of 250 hours, 100 hours and 25 hours. A motion picture, "Guardians All," dealing with the contribution of observers to national defense, will be shown. Mrs. Laura Wonseller, in charge of the Columbiana observation post in Firestone Park, will preside, and Major Robert Medley, commander, and Sgt. Hal Kelley, public relations chief, of Canton Filter Center, will be present.

COLUMBIANA HIGH School students have elected Heather Haney president of the Student Council for the 1956-57 school year. Other officers elected are: Kenneth Warwick, vice president; Ruth Messersmith, secretary; William Campbell, treasurer; James Bookwalter, assembly chairman.

The Three Ms Class of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Jensen, 109 S. Elm St., at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Clarence E. Bowman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Bowman, south of town on Upper Elkton Road, and Miss Dorothea Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wright of Salem, will be married in First Presbyterian Church, Salem, at 7:30 p.m. next

WANT TO BUY A LOCOMOTIVE?—About 147 steam locomotives are for sale by the Chicago & North Western Railway as it completes dieselization of its locomotive power. Except for a few switch engines in upper Michigan, the system will be dieselized when the final coal burner makes its last run into North Western Station in Chicago. Each of these locomotives, stored in the North Western yards at Chicago, is worth about $5,000 in scrap.

VICTIM OF FOX HUNTED

OXFORD, Ohio (U) — A young girl who was bitten by a fox and her father who killed the animal were sought by officials of Hueston Woods State Park today. Officials want to determine if the fox had rabies. Park Manager Ken Hovens said he had no clues to the identity of the two, except that they planned to see a doctor in Dayton. The manager said the man took the dead fox with him after shooting it Sunday.

Pope Pius Approves Transplanting Eyes

VATICAN CITY (U) — Pope Pius XII today approved the transplant of corneas from the eyes of dead persons to those of the living blind.

The Pontiff warned, however, that transplant cases should be carefully selected and prudence used. The 80-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church spoke to a group of oculists who had asked him to give his opinion on the subject.

The Pope's words were his first on cornea transplants since an Italian priest, Don Carlo Gnocchi, recently bequeathed his eyes to two blind Italian children just before he died.

Italian law restricts the transplant of corneas. Father Gnocchi's action attracted so much attention that action has been started in parliament to change the law and a nationwide cornea bank has been established.

Last Of Quadruplets Dies Sunday Night

DALLAS (U) — The last of the Hunter quads died here Sunday night. Doctors said complication of premature births caused the deaths of all four babies. Arvie May Hunter, largest of the quads when they were born prematurely April 30 and May 1, died Sunday night of a heart condition. The other three girls died last week.

World's most popular POWER STEERING?

Buick Roadmaster 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera

Right this way!

EVERY YEAR, more and more of the new cars sold are equipped with Power Steering. Many a man has bought it "for the wife"—then wondered how he ever got along without it.

And if you have in mind a new car with this increasingly popular feature, you ought to consider this fact:

Since the beginning of last year, Buick has sold far more new cars equipped with Power Steering* than any other car—over 20,000 more in 1955 alone.

That's the record—and the reasons for it are just as impressive.

Buick brings you In-Line Safety Power Steering. In addition to the one-finger ease of turning common to all such systems in varying degree, it has several distinct advantages.

It gives you surer, steadier, safer control at highway speeds—because it retains that good natural "feel" of the road. (That's something you really should compare.)

On the other hand, it gives you more power assist when you need it most—at crawl speeds and at full stop. For parking and other tight maneuvering, Buick's Power Steering makes wheel turning nearly twice as easy as other types of systems. (And that's by engineering computation.)

Add another plus: this Buick feature works through the new Buick front end—where a unique new geometry and steering linkage bring a sweet new response and a wonderfully easy handling and a surer "sense of direction" even to new Buicks not equipped with the power system.

So there you are—and here we are, waiting to prove it all to you.

Waiting, also, to let you try the new thrills to be had in Buick's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo®—where getaway response and gas mileage both step up even before you switch the pitch.

And waiting to show you how the highest power yet, the sweetest ride yet and the boldest styling yet—all help to make this bright new beauty the Best Buick Yet.

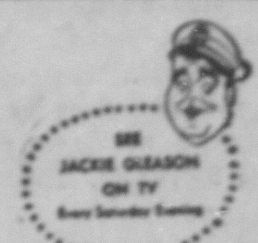

Today is fine with us. How about you?

*Buick's In-Line Safety Power Steering is standard on Roadmaster and Super, optional at moderate extra cost on other Series.

†New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Buick Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Arms And The Men

The Soviet Union may hold the whiphand in a disarmament race, if that is going to be the next move in the international checker game.

There are more things to consider than military manpower totals when a drastic cut in military forces is under consideration.

There also are more things than military manpower concerned when military forces are being beefed up. The Kremlin used the Russian army to keep millions of young Russians fed, clothed and loyal to the Stalin dictatorship in the years before World War II. When World War II was over, the Kremlin continued a large standing army because Stalin would not have dreamed of turning loose millions of Russians trained in the use of arms.

In the United States, at the same time, pressure to disband the armed forces was tremendous. Americans never have tolerated the philosophy of a large standing army. Even during the depression, they balked at proposals to give military training to unemployed youths and consented only to let some of the young men serve the federal government as members of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Russia, knowing it cannot be attacked by the United States and needing more manpower to bring supplies of food and industrial products up closer to minimum demand, could well afford to cut down its armed forces. With populous China as an ally, it could cut its armed forces drastically and still have military security.

The United States has no populous allies. It can be attacked by the Soviet Union. Any country can be attacked by an authoritarian government. Supplies of food and industrial products in the United States are far in excess of minimum demand. A drastic cut in military manpower could have far-reaching economic repercussions.

That is why the Soviet Union may have the whiphand if the next order of events in international relations proved to be a disarmament race. Otherwise, the Kremlin wouldn't be considering it.

Tough On The 'Little Guy'

The chief assistant county prosecutor of Cuyahoga County, Saul S. Danaceau, claims Ohio's new narcotics law is too hard on the "little guy who can't help himself."

The new Ohio law is so tough it has driven the big narcotics operators out of the state, but their prey — "the little guys" — cannot get away. Therefore, they get caught. But Ohio has no provision for doing anything with them, except put them in jail for the long terms prescribed in the new law.

Mr. Danaceau thinks it would be better if they were prosecuted under milder federal laws, which make hospitalization possible. Federal narcotics agents, on the other, show preference for prosecution under Ohio law, which aims to stop the narcotics menace by severity of punishment.

It is hard to follow Mr. Danaceau's reasoning about the "little guy." This same "little guy" starts school kids on narcotics to get money to keep himself in dope. He is the retail "sales force" for the narcotics industry. Nothing could be too tough for him, as far as being put out of circulation is concerned. If he is still an addict after a long term in prison, at least he may have enough sense to stay out of Ohio thereafter.

Don't Be A Statistic

It never has been made clear why 1941 continues to be the all-time high point for annual traffic deaths. Moreover, the reason why National Safety Council has declared a "traffic emergency" this spring is a March death toll higher than that of March, 1937-19 years ago. What happened since then?

Obviously, giant strides have been taken in the right direction or the increased number of automobiles in use and their increased use under far more crowded highway conditions would lead to a death rate far in excess of anything dreamed of so far.

But statistics do not shed much light on traffic accidents anyway. They are no help at all to automobile drivers whose aim is to keep from becoming statistics.

Safety is personal. Whatever happened to make 1941 a shambles does not need to happen again. Automobile accidents can be avoided. They are not inevitable. They are caused by people.

This evidently is going to be a bad year for motorists who want to stay alive. Safety-minded drivers will need to work harder than usual to keep themselves and their passengers from being turned into statistics against their will by goons who don't give a whoop.

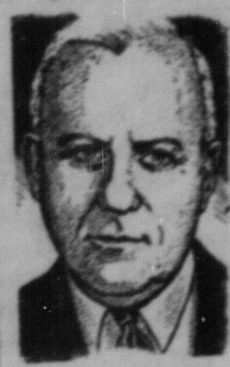

It's funny how early a baby learns how to not be quiet when his parents have company.

Far-Reaching Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Dulles Proposal To Prove To Be Significant

It will dawn on the world soon that a plan of far-reaching importance—perhaps even more significant in the long run than the Marshall Plan—has just been unfolded by the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles.

Lawrence

When first mentioned several days ago, it was vaguely described in official pronouncements as a means of "Broadening NATO." This was erroneously interpreted to mean that emphasis on the military side of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was being abandoned altogether and that henceforth there would be increased attention to economic help in some new spending program by the United States.

IT TURNS OUT that neither impression was correct and that what the United States now is proposing is the development of a new instrumentality for the exercise of moral force in the world paralleling, though not supplanting, the United Nations itself.

Basically, the new approach can be interpreted as a realistic recognition of the handicaps imposed by the very universality of the United Nations. Its cumbersome voting procedures sometimes only accentuate factionalism. Also, the log-rolling within the U.N. creates balances of power and rival groups in "power politics."

By utilizing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's council, however, as a political entity, there is a chance for agreement among a smaller group of nations which in emergencies can make their influence felt more effectively and more promptly. For, after all, back of the NATO council is military potentiality—something the United Nations Security Council lacks because of the misuse of the veto power by the Soviet Union.

THE SCOPE of any idea which is in an intangible stage cannot be defined too sharply at the outset. Already, from a careful reading of the masterful speech of the American secretary of state, it is possible to say that additional economic as well as military cooperation need not be ruled out as a sequel to the plan. Indeed, once there is a strong political union of states, action to implement military as well as economic programs becomes logical.

Whether this be by the use of private or governmental capital is not to be decided till later stages, when unity is well on the road to accomplishment. Nor is the plan at variance with U.N. objectives, as the secretary of state himself pointed out in his Tuesday speech.

What stands out as the sensational significance of the "Dulles Plan" is the forthright manner in which it seeks to deal with the Soviet Union's mischief-making not only in the Middle East but in Asia.

THUS, IF THE European nations which are members of NATO together, they can, through the council, bring a conciliatory influence and a constructive mediation to bear in such disputes as Cyprus and Algeria which tend otherwise to weaken NATO militarily.

While these are internal questions, legally speaking, they involve external factors. Neither France nor Britain, for example, would be compelled to accept the help of the other members of NATO in such disputes, but there would be an opportunity, through new ways and means, to bring about solutions.

For it is obvious that if the Middle East's oil is shut off from western Europe, NATO's military strength suffers. It becomes of vital concern, therefore, to NATO to find, if possible, an early solution to the Middle East crisis. Likewise, the problems of Asia are interwoven in European problems. Hence the emergence of a compact group of nations with common interests, through the new functions to be given to the NATO council, means less chance to place all the burdens of the world on America's "leadership"—a word that the critics so often refer to in disparagement as they sometimes seek to divert attention from the shortcomings of their own governments in world affairs.

No super-government, but rather an effective alliance, is what Mr. Dulles envisages. He says:

"It would not require different personalities at the council table, but a different approach and far greater 'depth' in terms of political advisers than is now the case. But above all is the basic decision to take seriously the unity of the Atlantic community and seek to promote it, not by super-government but by common counsel. Such a decision has not yet been taken, except in military terms."

MR. DULLES purposely avoids giving details at this time but says that, under the new concept of NATO, the members "could generate greater dynamism to help, in acceptable ways, to sustain political and economic independence elsewhere."

This, then, is what the United States means by "broadening NATO," President Eisenhower fully supports the "Dulles Plan."

It always takes time for the full import of new ideas in diplomacy to sink in. But the plan will be welcomed in Europe. It meets boldly some of the comments of those critics who have themselves been groping recently for a way to de-emphasize military force and re-emphasize moral force.

It means reliance on a community of peoples, acting together in a common cause, to build a world opinion which conceivably can reach even behind the iron curtain.

Finding Money To Lend

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — So many people want to borrow that banks are having trouble finding the money to lend. And a drive is on to induce Americans to spend less and save more.

If they save more, the banks will have the money to lend to business to expand, to people to build homes, to governments to build schools and roads.

Inducement run all the way from appeals for greater thrift to the raising of interest payments to those who save.

Telling Americans what they ought to do with their money doesn't necessarily work—in the past they've usually changed their spending or saving habits of their own free will and in their own good time.

But W. Randolph Burgess, under secretary of the Treasury, is trying. He says: "I think in the long run this country would make faster progress if we saved a little more and spent a little less."

His point: We must save first to build up productive capacity; otherwise, we'll try to expand too fast and we'll bid up prices on the material and labor we have, and thus pull the dollar's buying power another notch or two lower.

The other inducement, the rising interest rates paid to savers, may work more effectively. It costs more now to borrow. It pays a little more now to save.

Bankers say, however, that this trend hasn't changed things much yet. The demand for loans seems as high as ever. And the volume of savings so far this year is below that of the same period a year ago.

People are still saving. And the total volume of saving continues to rise. But the percentage of personal incomes after taxes that are going into the various forms of saving is smaller now than a year ago.

Last year, in spite of the big wave of spending and borrowing, Americans added 17 billion dollars to the total of their savings, and this is figured to have climbed to 238 billion dollars. But that 17 billion represented just 6.5 per cent of their income, while in former years they were saving 8 per cent, and at a time when they had less money to spend or to save.

And this year the rate of saving is slipping below that of last year. The principal institutions for savings in this country are interestingly their totals, but the gain is noticeably smaller.

One reason may be that since people piled up such a large debt last year, they are mainly occupied right now in making the regular payments needed to reduce it.

The slower rate of savings is one reason — and probably just as effective a one as any taken by the money managers — that money is tight now and interest rates rising.

Who Planned It That Way?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

It was during Franklin D. Roosevelt's exuberant first term that, in a moment of casual optimism, the President coined the expression, "We planned it that way." It was in that term that, at his insistence, the Social Security Act was passed. Presumably, that was to be a prize specimen of planning, not only for the present but for the future.

The illusion in that system was that a wise and provident present would lay aside for an unknown future. The fact is that the irresponsible present is throwing the burden on the future.

Let us consider the facts. It is obvious in the first place that people now receiving federal old age assistance benefits have not "bought" what they are getting with that they paid into the system. But if those benefits were determined by need (which they are not), they could be a reasonable means of helping people who were born too early to begin their payments.

According to an analysis made by the Social Security Administration itself, a married man who entered employment covered by old age assistance insurance (OASI) at the age of 60 in 1955 and who earned $100 a month would have to pay slightly more than $167 a month (or more than he earned) for five years to obtain the same potential benefits which he and his employer are now paying only $4 a month to obtain. This means that he will get a windfall of $9,800.90, which is the difference between what he will pay in, $240, and what he will get, $10,040.90.

Now let us consider this collectively. According to the Social Security Administration, the OASI unfunded accrued liability was between 244 billion and 270 billion dollars in December 1954. That simply means that at that moment the amount that the government would owe in promised benefits, less the expected contributions, exceeded the money in the Social Security "trust" fund by around a quarter of a trillion dollars. That, ladies and gentlemen, is the discrepancy between what a "liberal" government promised at the time and the actual facts.

That huge deficiency will have to be supplied by our children, born and as yet unborn. That is what we are leaving behind for future generations to pay.

A gentleman who knows the subject as an expert, W. Hulton Williamson, who served the Social Security Board for 10 years as chief actuarial consultant, said this before a committee of this Congress:

"It is impossible to foretell costs either absolutely or relatively. But the 1955 outlay was more than five times the amount set down in 1935 as the expected 1955 burden . . . the method of presenting potential costs is subject to giving an unwarranted assumption of definiteness as to the road ahead."

The government, Mr. Williamson continued, has been "minimizing the seriousness of bequeathing great liabilities instead of assets."

In less polite terms, this means that the government has not only been conducting phony financial fanagles but lying about it.

Mr. Williamson concludes that "the unfairness to our future citizens must bring some sort of reaction, if those citizens have any grasp of what we are doing to them."

That is a big "if." It might suggest that Johnny ought to learn to read the fine print in our Social Security reports.

$99 Plane Fare To Europe

WASHINGTON

The one-way airplane fare from New York to Europe will drop to $99 within five years. This prediction was made today by Laurence Henderson, assistant to the president of North American Airlines.

To back up his prediction, Mr. Henderson pointed out that his company now has pending before the Civil Aeronautics Board a request for permission to cut existing trans-Atlantic fares in half.

North American has charged that the current trans-Atlantic fares of the members of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) are "grossly excessive." The company is not a member of the association.

Another charge by North American is that the American members of IATA are supported by millions of dollars of subsidy paid by American taxpayers, "with only a small percentage of those taxpayers being able to pay 'the excessive cartel-fixed rates charged by those carriers.'"

Pan American Airways and Trans-World Airlines have announced that they would propose rate reduction plans at the annual meeting of IATA in Cannes, France, May 29. The cuts these companies propose, however, amount to a maximum reduction of 20 per cent in the current round-trip tourist fare of $458. A Pan American spokesman said the company would not quote a reduced one-way fare. The cuts would not take place until April next year.

North American has obtained landing rights in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg. The airline has requested CAB permission to begin on June 15 direct overnight flights from U.S. east coast cities at an average fare of $150. This compares with the present New York to Paris one-way fare of $310, tourist class and $460 first class.

Other trans-Atlantic airlines predict that if the fare slash asked by North American is granted, the result would be to increase the airline subsidy bill to the taxpayer. In a report to the CAB Pan American declared that the plan was "not economically feasible and would result in economic disaster for all."

Air coach fare from New York to Los Angeles, 2,581 miles, is $80. The New York to Paris tourist fare of $310 is for a 3,600 mile trip, only 1,019 miles longer than the flight to the west coast.

Travel experts here point out that if the North American fare slash is approved it might force down trans-Atlantic ship fares as well as forcing other airlines to drop their rates.

It would be the first time that the least expensive ship fare was undercut by an air carrier. Minimum steamship fares to a French port during the tourist season are $335, first class and $185 for tourist class.

Knell For Education Bill

Whether it meant to do so or not, the Eisenhower administration has killed whatever slight chance there may have been for passage of a federal aid for education bill by Congress this year.

The executive action was in another field of federal aid—that for airport construction. The Civil Aeronautics Administration has ruled that, in the future, no federal funds could be used for building airport facilities in which racial segregation is practiced.

"This CAA ruling proves what I have been saying right along," Rep. William M. Colmer said "and that is that this Republican administration is not going to allow federal funds to be used for construction of a segregated school."

"Congress might pass a bill that has no such ban in it, but that would make no difference. The executive branch could do just what it has done in the case of the CAA, and simply issued an order saying no money can be spent anywhere that segregation is in effect. In that way the South, which needs new schools badly, would get no federal help whatever."

"I don't think many southern members of Congress would care to, or dare to, vote for federal aid for school construction under present conditions."

Rep. Colmer is a high-ranking member of the powerful House Rules Committee, which has been holding up on a federal aid for education bill for several months. While the pending bill — as approved by the House Education and Labor Committee — does not bar funds for segregated schools, a floor fight on this issue is certain.

Many southerners have been willing to go along with the bill if an anti-segregation amendment could be avoided. But now — like Rep. Colmer — many legislators from the South are now afraid that if the Congress itself does not put in an anti-segregation rider, that the administration will.

Until the CAA action of there had been signs that pressure would be put on the Rules Committee to report out the federal aid for education bill for floor action. But it is less likely now. Chances are the Rules Committee will give the bill a quiet burial for at least the remainder of the 84th Congress.

The Real News Newsreel

In a recent court case a doctor, who had sued to stop the half-hour ringing of chimes on top of a bank, lost out on a ruling that they constituted music and could not be discontinued. . . . This disturbs us. . . . Chimes every half hour from a steeple on top of our bank would get on our nerves almost as much as would a banker in the steeple of a church delivering a half-hour talk on banking.

In the court case the chimes played what is known as the "Westminster Tune," 18 notes on the hour and eight notes on the half. (There was no evidence that the bank board had thought the chimes were playing "Silver Threads Among the Gold" or "The Bonny Banks of Lochlomond.")

Our sympathy goes to the doctor in the case. . . . How can a physician get anywhere listening for chest noises from a nervous patient and getting chimes? What does a patient think when he complains, "Doc, I get ringing in my ears" and the doctor answers, "So do I?"

EVERYBODY IS NOW talking of "Needles" as a possible triple crown winner, and our racing expert informs us that a secret treatment accounts for that amazing stretch run to victory. . . . This horse was kept alive as a very sickly yearling, through many inoculations, which is why he came to be named "Needles." Now all a jockey has to do in the stretch is to lean over and whisper, "Here comes the doctor" and the skinner runs like a bat out you-know-where.

"Needles," by the way, is lazy, hates work and sometimes has to be shoved onto a track. . . . He may be the first horse to join the less-work and shorter-hours movement, and there are rumors he may refuse to do his best from here in unless guaranteed a pension and health insurance.

So firm is "Needles" for more leisure and better hours that there is even talk of having Walter Reuther ride him in the next big race. "Stocks Soar in Switzerland"—headline. . . . (We hear Yodel, Inc., is merging with St. Bernard Corporation.)

Hal March was on during most of a pre-Derby telecast last week and it worried us. . . . We had a fear he was going to ask the winner, during the stretch run, if he wanted to kuite or come back next week.

MacKINLAY KANTOR, Pulitzer prize winner for "Andersonville," is a Webster City, Iowa, boy who made it the hard way. The poetry award went to Elizabeth Bishop for a volume "Poems North and South—A Cold Spring." . . . It had the added appeal of a timely weather report.

New Yorkers are going to get a chance to get a real closeup of Frank Lloyd Wright's most modern work, the design for the Guggenheim Museum to take up a whole Fifth Avenue block. . . . It has six stories built in a spiral. . . . That's giving a new twist to new twists. . . . We hear the sidewalk superintendents will have spiral peepholes, with each man entitled to three holes to make it more unique.

The week saw a curious hassle between unions in a jurisdictional dispute over who should handle TV from New York's new Coliseum. . . . Stagehands' union claimed the Coliseum was a theater over which it should have the customary prerogatives, while electrical union claimed it was just a business building. Leaving us still rying o answer these questions: (1) Is an exhibition of motorboats show business? (2) Is a flower show a theatrical performance? (3) When a trout swims in a Sportsman's Exposition pool is it an actor? . . . And is Sharkey the Seal a thespian or a business promoter?

crushed his automobile in Clifton Park.

George B. Balogh, 64, electrocuted when he touched a fallen wire.

Frank Marohnic, 53, killed by a fallen wire he grabbed while helping a neighbor clean up debris.

Joseph Peets, 28, crushed in a tavern collapse.

Robert Adams, 7, and his brother Leonard, 5, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Adams, killed when the tavern collapsed.

Northern Ohio recorded another storm death early Sunday when Ronald Saverko, 16, a Boardman High School sophomore, drowned in a drainage ditch near Youngstown. He stepped into the flooded ditch from the path of an automobile and was swept more than a half mile into Boardman Lake, where his body was found by firemen.

Adams, 41, and his wife, Ethel, 34, were not seriously hurt in the tavern collapse that killed their sons. Their daughter, Pat, 16, said her parents and brothers had gone for a ride and met Peets, then stopped at the tavern about 45 minutes before the storm hit.

Mrs. James Richardson, who with her husband was in the tavern when it collapsed, gave this description of the disaster:

"We were all sitting at one table. Then the roof fell in, the lights went out and we dived for the floor. The walls caved in. It was terrible."

Adams helped pull four other persons from the heap of bricks and boards that had been a two-story building.

Fire which broke out in the Federal Department Store during the height of the storm caused damage estimated at $400,000. Firemen checked to determine whether it was caused by lightning.

The Lakewood and Rocky River streets littered with trees, bricks from chimneys, parts of roofs and shattered window glass brought back memories of the havoc created by a tornado which cut the path through southwest Cleveland on June 8, 1953, killing nine persons.

Saturday night's storm ripped across northern Summit County and diagonally through Portage County after leaving Cleveland. Property damage in those two counties was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Mayor David E. Grene of Ravenna said damage in that city alone was "at least" half a million dollars.

There were no deaths in Ravenna or Summit County, but four persons were injured, one seriously.

Rides and other equipment of a carnival playing on the outskirts of Ravenna were wrecked.

About 300 civil defense workers from Warren, Akron and smaller nearby communities aided in clearing up traffic jams caused by fallen trees and wires on main roads into Ravenna.

The Methodist Church at Streetsboro was damaged and a house was unroofed in that community.

In Cleveland, leaders of more than 30,000 building trades unionists, who have been on strike for higher pay since May 1, said the men would be available for work repairing damage caused by the storm.

Thomas E. McDonald, business agent of the Building Trades Council, said the council, union officers and members of the negotiating committee "have voted unanimously to service all emergency work created by the storm."

Some 150 National Guard troops called out at the request of Mayor Celeste to prevent looting in Lakewood and other west side streets damaged by the storm, were relieved of duty last night.

Several churches in Rocky River and Lakewood were damaged so severely services Sunday. All schools in Rocky River were closed today while officials checked the damage done by the storm.

At one time some 30,000 homes were without electricity, but crews of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., assisted by workers from other cities, started restoring service Sunday.

Cleveland's east side escaped most of the wind damage but streets were flooded by the heavy rain and at least one industrial plant was put out of action temporarily. The Cleveland division of Fisher Body told first-shift pressed metal workers not to report today because of drenched machines and power installations.

Area Storm

wife sought shelter in the cellar when the storm struck there about 10:45 p.m. Bogar's loss was covered by insurance.

The barn, garage and chicken coop at the home of Herbert Clinegerman, RD 1, Salem, Rt. 165, were badly damaged. The buildings were not covered by insurance.

Warn Motorist of Fallen Trees
Members of the Bogar and Clinegerman families went into the road during the storm to flag down and warn motorists of fallen trees and power lines.

A barn on the farm of Russell Webber, of RD 4, Salem, Rt. 165, was uprooted, and eight apple trees were uprooted.

About twenty trees were uprooted and power lines were downed at the Salem Girl Scout Camp on Seachrist Road. One of the trees smashed the roof of one of the buildings.

Many other sheds and barns were destroyed or damaged in that area. Fallen trees, power and telephone lines were everywhere. Roads were blocked by debris.

The winds caused hop-skip damage in the Deerfield-Norton area. In many instances structures were demolished while buildings immediately nearby were unscathed.

At North Benton a $6,500 concrete block bathhouse erected only a year ago was demolished. The bathhouse was constructed on the property of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gooding Sr. who were planning to open a public bathing pool this summer.

The storm also blew the nearby house of Raymond Gooding Jr. off its foundation.

Fallen trees and power lines were strewn along Rt. 14 in Deerfield and south of that village.

The worst damage in the immediate vicinity of Columbiana was west and southwest of town.

Damage to the new Kaiser plant west of town is estimated at $100,000. Part of the aluminum siding on the plant was blown off and fragments were found in different parts of town.

Stacked sheets of aluminum also were blown away, some more than a mile, according to patrolmen. Shacks used for storage of tools and supplies were destroyed and the farm building used as construction headquarters for the plant also was damaged.

Southwest of town, on Rt. 164, and the lower Elkton Road, many trees were blown down. Orchards on the lower Elkton Road suffered severely. On Route 164, the smaller of two barns on what is known as the Beck Farm was leveled, and lumber at the Harold Gieckler's Builders Supply yard was scattered.

West of town, on the Columbiana - Leetonia road, an abandoned barn, on what was formerly part of the Arthur Wisler farm, now owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad, was leveled.

Power lines in the vicinity were put out of commission along with some telephone lines.

The cupola on the roof of the National Rubber Machinery Co.'s foundry was damaged but the damage did not interfere with operation of the plant.

The large cathedral-type window on the west side of the Presbyterian Church was destroyed.

The window, measuring about four by eight, will have to be replaced by a new one, and a representative of a Warren firm was expected here today to give an estimate on the cost. The church roof was also damaged.

No other serious property damage in Columbiana resulted, but a number of trees were damaged and four were blown down, two on N. Main St., one on Union St. and one on W. Park Ave. Street Commissioner Carl Spratt and his crew were at work the rest of Saturday night and part of Sunday clearing streets for traffic. A number of television aerials and chimneys were blown down.

Thirty members of the Columbiana civil defense auxiliary police went to Leetonia Sunday morning to help handle the situation there. Traffic from the east was stopped by police yesterday as it neared Leetonia.

In Salem, which was not hit too hard, uprooted trees, fallen limbs and torn power and telephone lines were commonplace.

Two huge trees fell between the Albany Road homes of Robert Hall and Mrs. H. B. Harper. Two large trees also fell against the house at 1420 N. Ellsworth Ave.

The tin roof of a garage on N. Howard Ave. between W. State St. and W. 2nd St. was peeled off. Traffic was halted for periods on E. State St. and N. and S. Lincoln Aves. to permit workers to clear away debris and repair power and telephone lines.

A tree fell onto the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stone on Shady Lane, damaging the roof of the residence.

A tree fell onto the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stone on Shady Lane, damaging the roof of the residence.

Large trees on the properties of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Van Hovel, 391 N. Madison St., and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baisley, 362 N. Roosevelt Ave., were blown down.

The Salem Civil Defense and auxiliary police received high praise from city officials today.

From 11:15 p.m. Saturday until noon Sunday, 22 auxiliary policemen worked directing traffic in the city. Auxiliary policemen answered a plea for assistance from Leetonia by sending 18 men who worked in the village from 5 p.m. Sunday to 3 a.m. today.

The service department, according to Director James Feiler, was aided by the auxiliary police and the Civil Defense radio system, which was used to notify City Hall of areas requiring assistance. The city fire department furnished light from its portable generator from 11:30 p.m. to 5:40 a.m. to aid service department and Ohio Edison crewmen in clearing streets of trees and restoring power lines.

Hazel Linn of the Red Cross supplied the workers with sandwiches and coffee.

Harding said the storm was "the worst I've seen since 1927," when he joined the Ohio Edison Co.

Ohio Edison crews worked around the clock since 11 p.m., Saturday, pausing only briefly to eat. Every man available worked to restore power to stricken areas. Harding said all power should be restored by today.

Most of the company's trouble was caused by falling trees pulling down power lines. Pole crews set between 25 and 30 new utility poles in the area and righted many other fallen poles.

Falling trees also caused the greatest damage to telephone lines. Raymond J. Stiver, plant chief of Ohio Bell, said trees pulled down several cables and from 75 to 80 service drops.

Ohio Bell crewmen also worked around the clock to restore communications. In Salem, the main area of damage to telephone lines was north of Salem along Diagonal, Middleton and Stanton Roads and Rt. 165.

In the city proper telephone communications were affected only in isolated areas, primarily along 5th and 6th Sts. and in the 400 block of S. Lincoln Ave.

Telephones in Leetonia were also affected by the storm but all service was restored by Sunday evening. Damage to telephone lines in Columbiana was confined to an area about the Fairfield School, according to Stiver.

Stiver said all service was restored Sunday night.

The barn and chicken coop on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Umstead of the Pine Lake Rd., were destroyed. However, a cow, calf and 17 chickens in the buildings were unharmed.

Montgomery Cliff Won't Be Scarred By Injuries

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—Actor Montgomery Cliff will not be permanently scarred by severe facial cuts received in a weekend brush with death, his physician said today.

Cliff, 35, also received a broken nose, bruises and a possible concussion when the rented car he was driving struck a power pole, hurling him against the dashboard, as he was negotiating a steep downgrade in Benedict Canyon.

FIRE LEVELS WAREHOUSE
CINCINNATI (AP)—Fire leveled a warehouse at the Kitchen Products Co. in nearby Groesbeck last night with loss estimated at $25,000.

The firm's main building and a nearby motel were undamaged. Six fire companies fought the blaze, which consumed plywood stored in the warehouse.

Will Confer On Flood Problem In Leetonia

Leetonia village officials and the Columbiana County commissioners will meet this afternoon in Lisbon to discuss ways of preventing a recurrence of the flood which covered large sections of Leetonia with water and caused thousands of dollars in damage Saturday morning.

Mayor Paul Sevenich said today the village is "definitely going to have a program." Dams will have to be constructed to prevent future floods in the village, he said.

Mayor Sevenich said village residents should report to him all damage caused by the flood waters Saturday. He will then make a full report to Col. H. E. Sprague of the Army engineers, district engineers from Pittsburgh, Pa.

The mayor said he has been assured by federal and county authorities that the flood situation will be investigated and they will attempt to work out a satisfactory solution.

Aerial photographs of the stricken area were taken by Army engineers following the floods Saturday.

The meeting today will be attended by the mayor, village councilmen and Chamber of Commerce officials, including the president, Jack Ripley.

Following a Leetonia flood in October, 1954, engineers made a study of the situation in the village. The district engineer had stated that flood conditions are caused by the restricted capacities of the Cherry Valley Run to carry high waters, particularly where the stream passes through the center of the village.

Refuses To Sign Acreage Report, Farmer Jailed

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Farmer Walter T. Carroll went to jail for contempt rather than sign a crop acreage report for the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Carroll, 44, told federal officers he didn't think it was any of the government's business how much he planted. He ignored a summons to show cause why he should not be held in contempt, and was arrested, with his brother, Roy, on their North Florida farm Thursday after a scuffle with U. S. Deputy Marshals.

When Carroll refused before Federal Judge D. A. Devine to sign the acreage report, Devine ordered him jailed indefinitely.

Christian Church Class Holds Dinner

The Loyal Women's Class of the First Christian Church held a mother-daughter dinner party at the church Tuesday night. More than 100 were in attendance. Members of the Gold Star Class served the dinner.

Mrs. Lloyd Robush planned the table decorations of potted geraniums and favors, which were miniature parasols filled with mints and nuts. Bouquets of mixed spring flowers decorated the room throughout and an arrangement of sweetpeas graced the piano.

Mrs. Lewis Sheen gave the invocation and Mrs. George Kyle, president of the class, welcomed the guests and appointed a good deed committee for the month. Mrs. Frank Keselmeire, Mrs. William Arnold and Mrs. Elsie Davis. Mrs. Kyle also presented flowers to Mrs. Margaret Hannay, oldest mother present; Mrs. John McGuire, youngest mother; and Kay Lynn Adams, youngest daughter. The program included: A Mother's Day reading by Mrs. Carl Heyn of Newton Falls; two piano solos, Dixie Wilde; a flute trio, Mary Mercer, Mitzi Theiss and Janet Williams; tribute to daughters by Mrs. Howard Sunderman and the response by Mrs. Virginia Cunningham. Mrs. Arthur Schropp read a paper concerning the first woman doctor.

The benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Harold Deitch.

Boy Scout Council Holds Roundtable

The monthly Boy Scout Roundtable of the northern district of Columbiana Council was held last Monday at the First Christian Church with Troop 5 as host troop.

The meeting was opened by the cub scouts, followed by introductions by Willard Albertsen. Discussion groups were assigned by Calvin Filler.

Discussion group leaders were: George Robertson, scoutmasters and camping men; Robert Bennett, cub leaders; John Mulford, advancement men; Mr. Filler and George Rogers, finance men, unit secretaries and unit chairmen.

A "court of honor" followed in the church sanctuary. The court was composed of members of the Troop 5 committee. Star Scout Rank awards were given to the following boys attaining merit badges: Ray Gottschling for first aid, hiking, electricity, scholarship and reading; James Murphy for public health, nature, astronomy, geology and stamp collecting; and Richard Shasteen for hiking, first aid, scholarship, fishing and cooking.

The next rank for these boys will be that of Life Scout.

The discussion groups reconvened following the court of honor. Mr. Filler presented a talk on the theme, "Onward For God and Country." The 50 persons in attendance enjoyed the "cracker barrel" at the conclusion of the evening.

Historical Society Will Meet Tuesday

All members of the Salem Historical Society are asked to attend a special meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Public Library assembly room. The members are also asked to bring to this meeting Salem antiques to be loaned or given to the Historical Society for the sesquicentennial celebration.

The antiques will be used in the museum at the library. Plans for this event were made at last Tuesday's meeting in the library. President Harold Harman presided.

Meetings will be held weekly until after the sesquicentennial celebration.

Walter Koch Honoree At Dinner Party

Walter Koch was the honoree at a dinner party held Saturday evening at the home of Albert and Miss Josephine Dunn of RD 2, Salem.

The affair was in celebration of Mr. Koch's having become a naturalized citizen April 25. Mr. Koch has made his home at the Dunn's farm since his arrival from Poland five years ago as a displaced person.

His Polish name was Wlodzimierz Kowaszewski which he had changed to Walter Koch when he received his citizenship.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Potorti of Salem, instructor at the Salem Citizenship School, and friends of Mr. Koch from Salem and Winona, who were former displaced persons.

FETED ON BIRTHDAY

The ninth birthday of Nancy Lee Will was celebrated recently at a party arranged by her mother, Mrs. Delmar Will, and her grandmother, Mrs. Howard Forney, at their home on S. Broadway.

Sixteen playmates of Nancy's were guests. They each brought her a gift. Games were played and prizes went to Cheryl Boyce, Patty McGee, Carolyn McGee, Leslie Landwert, Ronnie Bezered, Betty McLaughlin and Carol Paxson.

Lunch was served. A decorated cake was the centerpiece. Mrs. Will was assisted by Nancy Lee's aunts, Mrs. Otto Crider and Mrs. Robert Spanbarr, and her cousin, Sandra Hofmeister.

U.S. Warning To Mid East Urged

Jewish Committee
Asks Arms Limits

CLEVELAND (AP) — The American Jewish Committee says the United States should warn potential aggressors in the Middle East that its power "will be aligned against them."

The opinion was expressed in a resolution approved Sunday at the final session of the committee's three-day national executive board meeting. It said that "once adequate defensive arms have been obtained by Israel, serious consideration should be given to the limitation of further military supplies in the area."

The AJC affirmed its support of Secretary of State Dulles' proposals last August for settlement of the Middle East problem. It asserted, however, that Dulles' long-range objectives "will not be accomplished until the pall of fear is removed and the basic conditions of peace established."

"These include," the committee added, "no change of the status quo by either side through the force of arms, cessation of any and every aggressive act on the part of any nation, withdrawal of all blockades and economic boycotts and elimination of hate propaganda."

In other resolutions, the AJC said:

1. No credence can be given to assurances of Communist leaders that they have renounced oppressive policies against minorities, including Jews, until they have freed the victims of anti-Semitic purges from prisons, retracted anti-Semitic charges made at former purge trials and restored religious and cultural freedom to the Jews.

2. The government of West Germany should take immediate action against "an upsurge of anti-democratic and anti-Semitic literature" in the country."

Alliance Jet Pilot Survives Air Crash

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—Two jet fighter pilots sat on their hospital beds at the Air Force base here Friday night and told what it felt like to emerge alive from a plane collision at 31,000 feet.

First Lt. Francis P. Bennett Jr., 24, of Alliance, Ohio, and 2nd Lt. Kenneth W. Gero, 21, of Lynden Center, Va., said that when two jet interceptors crash in the air it is seldom that both pilots escape.

The fact that they survived and were little the worse off for their experience was, they commented, a "lucky break."

Bennett and Gero were simulating a beam attack in the air above the northeastern Nebraska town of Hubbard Friday morning. Bennett's plane was making a pass at Gero's craft, approaching the line of flight at a right angle.

Then, the pilots related, both suddenly realized a crash was imminent. Each tried to avoid it by nosing down his plane but the tail assemblies collided. The pilots stayed with their planes for a few seconds, then yanked on the ejection seat levers.

"Immediately after the crash I was upside down with my head against the top of the canopy and I decided to get out," Bennett recalled.

"I lost consciousness when I was shot out and when I came to I was pin-wheeling. I managed to stop myself in the prescribed way. Then I began falling—head down, body slanted — until my parachute opened.

"I saw a piece of wreckage float by. I thought it must be Ken, still unconscious in his seat."

Gero said he too lost consciousness after pulling the lever but came to in a few seconds.

"I was spinning around on my back, looking up into scattered pieces of airplane," he said. "Then I went into a free fall. It felt like a week before that parachute opened."

Bennett lost his helmet and wrist watch, suffered a gash over his right eye and a vertebral injury.

Sen. Bender Flatly Predicts He'll Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—"I'm going to win and that's all there is to it," says Sen. George H. Bender. The Ohio Republican was referring to his senatorial race against Gov. Frank J. Lausche in the Nov. 6 election.

Bender said he has several factors in his favor:

1. Lausche's "quarreling"—as the senator put it—with his own party.

2. Election of four anti-Lausche presidential delegates from Cleveland and Canton at the Ohio primary.

3. Bender has corralled the votes of many businessmen who formerly voted for Lausche.

In an interview Friday, the senator said Ohio primary returns show the GOP is stronger in the state than it was in 1954. And he harped on his belief that Ohioans want to keep a Republican vote in the Senate.

Brushing aside a reporter's remark that Lausche is an admirer of President Eisenhower, Bender asserted that was no problem because "the President and his cabinet are all for me."

Bender also remarked that if Eisenhower campaigns at all, "he certainly will include Ohio" in his trip.

Ike To Discuss Election Issues

Hagerty Promises Full Campaign Discussion

By The Associated Press
The nation's voters will hear a full discussion of the issues this election year from the Republican side, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty promised Sunday.

In a filmed television interview, Hagerty also indicated that the "electronics age" — presumably meaning television and radio — would figure importantly in President Eisenhower's re-election campaign.

It has been previously announced Eisenhower will make five or six TV campaign speeches, some possibly originating in other parts of the country.

"We have a lot of plans," Hagerty said Sunday, but "it's a little bit too early to announce those plans... particularly to the opposition party."

Referring to Eisenhower, Hagerty said, "He will campaign, but I think it will be in a little different sense than a traditional whistle-stop campaign. I do think our points of view... will be fully and amply covered."

The press secretary said he thought the principal issues in the GOP view will be prosperity and what he called a transition "from war toward peace more and more."

Another opinion of what the issues would be came from Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential candidate.

Sparkman in an interview said Democrats won't need to emphasize health or the "part-time president" argument to beat Eisenhower in November.

"I think the two principal issues will be the farm problem and the favoritism of this administration for big business, with its consequent disadvantage to small business," he said.

Bricker Says 'Check Rein' May Be Needed On TV News

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said today a government "check rein" may be needed to make sure television networks broadcast unbiased news.

Bricker cited this as an additional reason why he believes Congress should hold hearings on his bill to put networks under federal regulation.

"I don't want any censorship," Bricker said in an interview, "that would be 10 times worse. That's the practice of a monolithic state."

But he said that networks, through news commentary and political broadcasts, have a "potential power to mold public opinion" that may require some kind of control.

So far, he said, the networks generally have been fair in news commentary and in giving political parties equal access to the air.

But if they wanted to revise their policies, he said, there "is nothing to stop them."

Bricker already has presented as one reason for federal regulation the claim that networks have an unchecked monopoly.

It is his contention that National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System have "an economic stranglehold" on the TV industry. CBS President Frank Stanton denies this.

As to just how the networks could be required to present "unbiased" news, Bricker said that is something that would have to be worked out. It's possible he said, that this type of regulation would not be practical.

However, he said individual TV stations must meet certain general standards to retain their licenses.

He said if the Supreme Court "felt it important" to make services of the Associated Press available to all newspapers, he can't see why access to the air "shouldn't apply even more importantly to the networks."

As one example, Bricker said some network representatives have talked lately about transmitting editorials. This would be a different matter than newspaper editorials, he asserted, because newspapers "have competition" and networks don't.

There also is the problem, he said, of the national advertiser who gets "kicked off the air" to

Gov. Lausche Ignores Most Rules, But Continues To Win

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Consistently ignoring his own party's organization, denying it patronage and occasionally voting for Republicans have not, up to now, kept Ohio's Gov. Frank Lausche from winning elections. Here's a close-up of an unorthodox Democrat who is prominently mentioned as a possibility for his party's presidential nomination.)

By JACK BELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U-P) — In Ohio politics they call Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche the man who walks alone.

In his 60th year he is walking a familiar, politically lonely path as Ohio's "favorite son" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and as his party's unopposed nominee for the United States Senate.

Lausche, a six-foot gentle bear of a man with a rumpled shock of graying hair, has developed a technique of campaigning for and holding office that has given him five terms as governor. This is more than any Ohioan ever served before.

The technique seems to consist of ignoring most of the established rules while projecting the Lausche personality to the voters.

The keynote of that personality, as Lausche displays it to the public is sincerity of an emotional sort. Tears come mistily to his eyes as he talks of the traditions of America with the reverence born of a son of a Slovenian immigrant.

When he speaks of "O-h-i-o," his voice echoes with a fierce pride and timbre of respect.

Frank Lausche is a salesman who takes great pains to identify himself with the man on the street. Nothing pleases him more than to be recognized on sight in every hamlet of Ohio.

In this role, he avoids the pomp most governors love. He rides around in a five-year-old, inexpensive state car driven by a state employee who is never in uniform.

When the governor and his cadre of aides go to lunch, it is always at a neighborhood cafe in Columbus and not one of the big hotels.

Lausche's critics, of whom there are more than a few in Ohio, call all this part of a phony sales campaign. They say he caters to the business interests of Ohio and enlists Republican support in that manner. They describe him as a hard man with his enemies.

The governor has accumulated many of these enemies by ignoring the Democratic Party organization, denying it patronage and sometimes supporting Republicans for office. In the minds of some Democrats, he is more Republican than Democratic.

As he himself has put it, his political creed is: "I will not allow my party interest to overcome my interest in my country."

In 1950 Lausche turned a cold shoulder on the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate and spoke glowingly of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, a Republican. Only this year Lausche admitted on a television program he voted for Taft.

He has praised President Eisenhower to such an extent as to cause his November opponent, Republican Sen. George Bender to accuse Lausche of "trying to grab Ike's coattails."

Lausche turned down an invitation to meet with other Democratic governors in Washington last year immediately after a White House conference of all of the governors with Eisenhower.

"I do not contemplate joining a political meeting to figure out ways and means of defeating the man who has just been my host," he declared.

All of this has not endeared him to party colleagues. He has made an enemy out of Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. Kirwan will give Lausche no help in the Youngstown district where Kirwan is strong.

Democratic Rep. Wayne Hays of an eastern Ohio district is out to undercut Lausche. He is reported to have told county chairmen to work against the governor in the coming election or face replacement. Lausche says Hays is sore because he wanted the Ohio Democratic delegation lined up for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

For years, Lausche had feuded with Ray T. Miller, chairman of the Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) Democratic Committee. The county embraces about one-fifth of Ohio's voters.

Not content with this, Lausche often has turned his back on the legislative demands of Ohio's organized labor leaders. The CIO endorsed his opponent in the Democratic gubernatorial primary in 1948. Yet John Rooney, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio CIO Council says "We never spent any money against Lausche."

That seems, in a way, to sum up Lausche's political success. He pleases no one segment of the electorate fully. Neither does he fully alienate any large segment.

His appeal to businessmen has been strong in his six races for two-year terms as governor. Whether they will support him for the Senate, where he will have a less direct influence on their affairs, remains to be seen.

Lausche has a habit of confounding the political liberals with his proposals while assuaging the conservatives with his performance.

His proposals to the Republican Legislature often are New Dealish in nature. His critics say he knows in advance the Legislature won't accept them. What comes out of this maneuvering usually amounts to a moderately progressive program.

But it is as a conservative that Lausche has been boomed by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), Govs. Allan Shivers of Texas and Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana as a potential presidential candidate acceptable to the South.

Lausche, who has proposed that Ohio set up a state fair employment practices commission (FEPC) and who opposes segregation in Ohio schools, has said the question of racial integration in the schools should be handled by the states.

The Ohio governor disclaims any present presidential ambitions. He says he wants to be the state's "favorite son" candidate only to keep Ohio's 58 presidential nominating votes out of the hands of the "bosses." Presumably, these are Miller and some Ohioans who want to throw the state's delegation behind Kefauver.

Terrorists Kill 3 In Streets Of Tunis

TUNIS, Tunisia (U-P) — Terrorists sprayed machinegun fire on streets of Tunis today and threw a grenade into a jam-packed cafe, killing three people and wounding 14.

The assailants, in a speeding auto, sprayed a crowd of people.

A few minutes later a car sped past an office of the government Neo-Destour party with machineguns firing. Two people were wounded. The Neo-Destour party recently negotiated an independence agreement with France.

Eleven persons were wounded by a grenade tossed through the first floor window of the cafe into a mass of Arabs and Europeans.

In revolt-torn Algeria, officials counted 25 dead and 45 wounded in nationalist attacks over the weekend in Constantine. The rebels concentrated their hit-and-run attacks on the Jewish quarter of the city Sunday night, leaving six dead and four wounded.

Byrnes Urges Curbing Of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (U-P) — James F. Byrnes, a former associate justice of the Supreme Court, said today the court "must be curbed."

"Power intoxicates men," Byrnes said in a copyrighted article in the magazine U. S. News & World Report. "It is never voluntarily surrendered. It must be taken from them. The Supreme Court must be curbed."

Byrnes, a member of the high court in 1941-42, also is a former member of the Senate and of the house and the holder of various high offices in the Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman Administrations, including the secretaryship of state in the latter. His most recent public office was as governor of South Carolina.

Byrnes assailed as a "usurpation of power" the Supreme Court's decision outlawing racial segregation in the public schools and hinted that the decision may not have been unanimous, as was announced at the time it was handed down two years ago this week.

Noting that the court continued from one year's term until the next the five cases which were consolidated for purposes of the decision, Byrnes wrote that "had the court been unanimous... such an opinion would have been written within a few months," and he continued:

Declaring that "we can only speculate as to how the court reached its decision," Byrnes said the framers of the constitution and members of Congress who approved the 14th amendment contemplated school segregation. The court relied on the 14th amendment in its anti-segregation decision.

Byrnes said the court's decision "was not unanimous, as was announced at the time it was handed down two years ago this week."

Byrnes said the court's decision "was not unanimous, as was announced at the time it was handed down two years ago this week."

Woman Walks In Path Of Train, Is Killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U-P) — A 44-year-old woman patient at Columbus State Hospital was struck and killed by a New York Central passenger train Sunday as she walked down the tracks looking for the engineer "right in the eye."

Police identified her as Rhea W. Harris, of Columbus. They quoted the engineer, Roscoe Mehlhoff of Sharonville, as saying he blew the train whistle but the woman kept walking toward the train and "looked me right in the eye."

Acting Coroner Dr. Carl E. Telirik said he probably will rule the death a suicide.

THE ROOF of the barn on the Russell Webber farm on Rt. 165 was ripped off. The wind also damaged his house and blew down a number of trees on his property.

SIDEWALKS RUINED—Falling trees tore up these sidewalks on Columbia St., Leetonia.

WIND peeled the metal roof off this building on N. Howard Ave.

A RECENTLY completed, concrete block bathhouse in North Benton was razed. The structure, located on the property of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gooding Sr., was being readied for the opening of the Elray Pool.

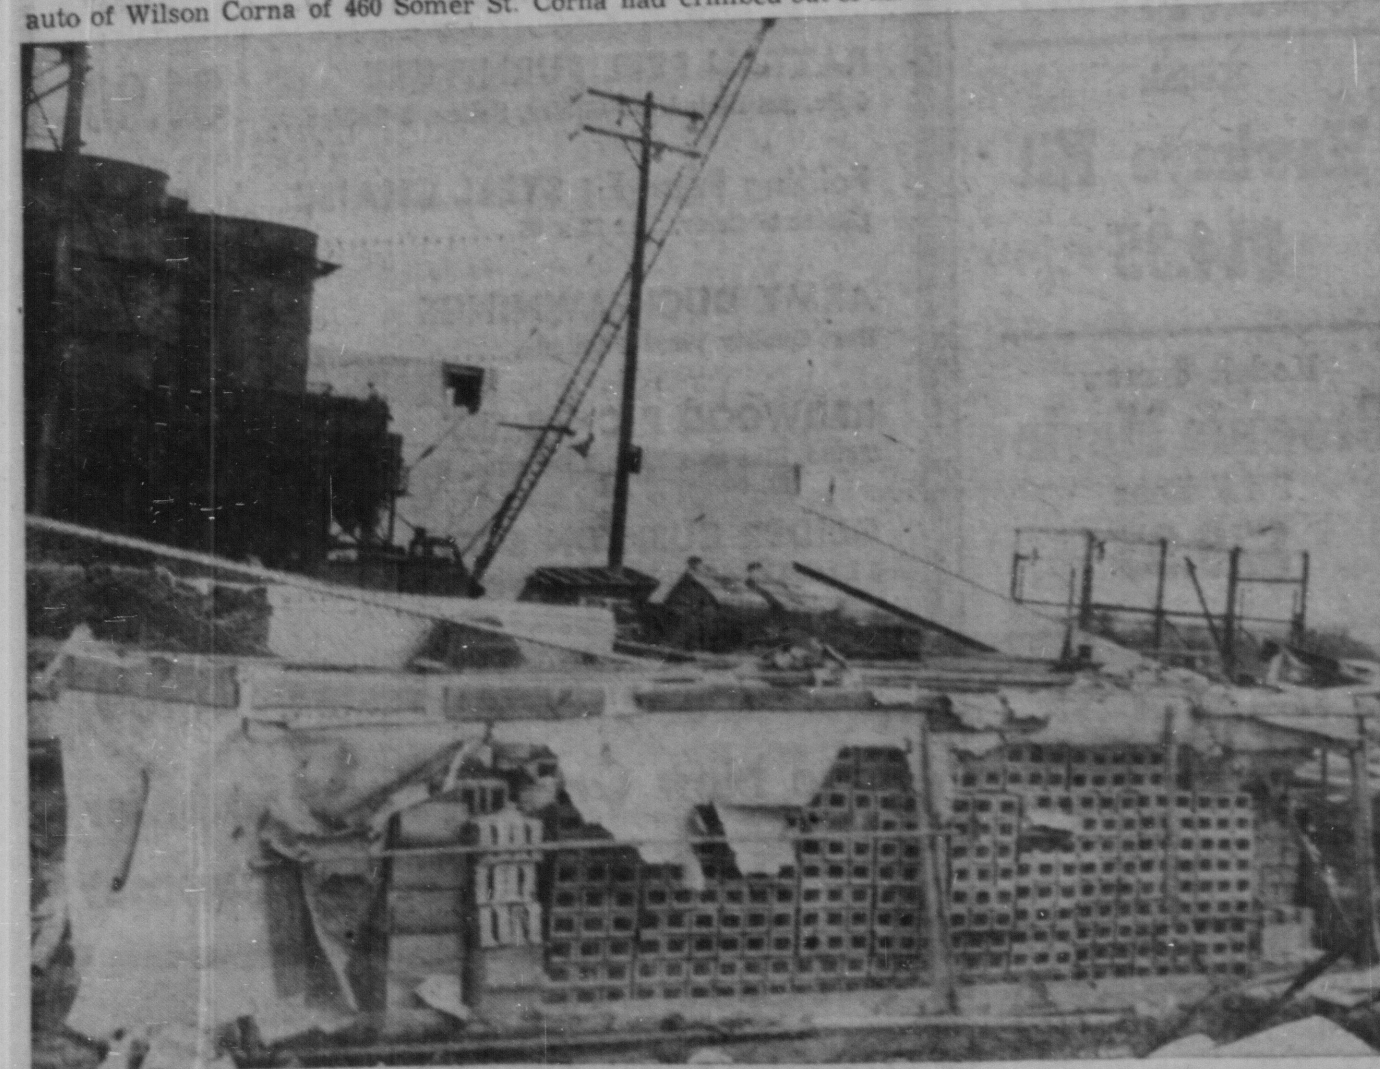

TWO TREES uprooted by the storm, lean against the home at 1420 N. Ellsworth Ave.

SCOREBOARD TILTED — The scoreboard of the Firestone Park football field in Columbiana was knocked over by the wind Saturday night. THE STORM Saturday night knocked over the big TV tower at the home of Dan Johnston of the Albany Rd., as though it were made of paper.

TREE SMASHES CAR—Civil Defense workers struggle to remove a fallen tree from the smashed auto of Wilson Corna of 460 Somer St. Corna had climbed out of his 1954 car shortly before the storm hit.

THE KAISER ALUMINUM and Chemical Co. plant at Columbiana (shown above) was hit hard Saturday night by the Hurricane winds which tossed construction supplies about. The plant is in the process of construction. Metal sheeting was found a mile away.

THE B. & N. TRANSPORTATION CO. terminal in Columbiana was damaged by uprooted trees as shown above.

CAR DAMAGED IN WASHINGTONVILLE—Guy Gabriel of 68 Elm St., Leetonia, was away from Leetonia, which received extensive wind damage Saturday night, but it turned out his car might have been safer at home. Gabriel was visiting the home of Donald Spear in Washingtonville when the wind blew tree limbs onto his car. The rear window was broken and trunk damaged.

Prisoner Tries Escape, Only Half Makes It

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A prisoner at the Ft. Hayes guardhouse here tried to escape Sunday, but only half of him made it.

An Army spokesman said Martin R. Youngless, 17, Brighton, Ohio, tried to squeeze through the pried-apart bars of a guardhouse window. Only his head and shoulders got through and he had to be helped back in.

A fellow prisoner, Albert D. Saltzman, 17, Leavittsburg, Ohio, managed to squeeze through the window ahead of Youngless. Columbus police picked him up an hour later.

Both men had been jailed on AWOL charges.

IT'S A FRISKY FOURSOME—Four newcomers at the Robert Bell home on the Seachrist Road near Damascus are creating pandemonium since their arrival Wednesday evening. The quadruplets are diminutive goats—named Browne, Friskie, Shorty and Charcoal, respectively. The five-year-old mother, named Deerie, has had three sets of twins at different times, but never has she had four goats in a litter. In the picture above the Bell children are shown (l. to r.) with their pets as the tiny goats get their first taste of grass: Bobbie, 10; Leanna, 12; and Richard, 7. The family collie, Nickie, seems just as happy as the children over the whole thing.

Indians Split With Athletics, To Play Yankees Tonight

Tribe Still One Game From Lead

Indians Drop Opener To A's, Capture 2nd

CLEVELAND (U) — Sunday's split with Kansas City sends the Cleveland Indians against the New York Yankees tonight with an opportunity to grab the American League lead for the first time this season.

While the Indians lost to the Athletics 5-2, then won 9-4, the Yankees split with Baltimore. That left the Tribe tied with New York in the lost column, but with two less victories.

Johnny Kucks (3-1), who beat Cleveland in New York, will pitch against Bob Lemon (4-1) tonight. Lemon won the rubber game of last week's three-game series in New York. He needs a victory tonight to lift his 25-25 mark against the Yankees into the black ink.

The Indians got only four hits off Art Ditmar in Sunday's opener but rapped a dozen hits in the nightcap, including three-run homers by Al Rosen and Rocky Colavito.

In the opener the Athletics drove Bob Feller off the mound in the third inning with his first 1956 loss. Three of four men Feller walked scored during two-run Kansas City rallies in the first and third innings.

Harry Simpson had three of the visitors' seven hits. He doubled home a run in the first inning, singled one home in the second and contributed a seventh-inning single to a one-run rally against Cal McLish, who relieved Feller.

The Tribe got only one rally going against Ditmar, scoring two runs in the third inning on a walk, Jim Busby's double and Bob Avila's single.

Herb Score evened his season record at 3-3 in the second game, walking four, fanning six and giving up six hits. Half of those hits were in the seventh inning when Joe De Maestri and Rance Pless singled and Hector Lopez cleared the bases with a home run over the left center field fence, his fourth.

Rosen's third-inning homer off rookie Tom Lasorda followed two walks and gave Score a 3-0 lead into the fifth when two walks and Spook Jacobs' single scored Kansas City's first run.

Colavito's three-run homer was his first hit in 12 straight at-bats. He tagged Arnold Portocarrero in the seventh after the relief pitcher had put two men on base by walks.

In addition to the two three-run homers, the Indians scored twice in the fifth off Tom Gorman, with Score, Avila and Sam Mele rapping singles. In the ninth the Tribe got a run on singles by Busby and Vic Wertz.

Bob Moore Captures Feature At Canfield

Bob Moore of Kent captured the second late model 25-lap feature race at Canfield Speedway Saturday night.

Moore, piloting a 1950 Oldsmobile, took the lead at the halfway mark and held on to nip Gus Accioli of Warren and Roy Gembling of Kent. Only a car-length separated the first three cars.

A crowd of 4,581 were on hand in spite of the stormy weather throughout the area. The feature was completed in a light drizzle.

Nook Walters of Niles again put on a terrific show. He was leading the feature and appeared headed for victory. However, he spun out on the 18th lap, losing three places, and had to settle for fourth spot.

Mike Klapak of Warren, bidding for his second win, got caught in a 10-car pileup. He hooked bumpers with another car and had to drop out.

Tubby Hibbler of Conneaut, making his first appearance at Canfield, drove most of the feature with his hood up. He had his head out the window in order to see. Finally he got a flat on the 16th lap.

Ed Oliver Wins White Sulphur Open

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (U) — Ed (Porky) Oliver may have discovered that playing golf is the secret that will finally take him out of the runner-up class so often.

At least, he's going to give a try after it worked so well in bringing him victory Sunday in the White Sulphur Open, his first triumph in three years.

He won by three strokes over Sam Snead, the host pro, in his first competition in a couple of months. "It was the best golf I've played in a long time," said Oliver of his 266 for four rounds.

It was 14 strokes better than par and the lowest winning score since Snead's 264 in 1952.

After pocketing his $2,300, Oliver, 39, returned to his new job at the Blue Hills Country club in Boston. He said he will play in the PGA Championship there in July and in the meantime will compete only in the National Open next month in Rochester.

Skee Riegel of Ithaca, Pa., shot the best score of the tourney in his finale, a 63, but it brought him up to only 273 in a third-place tie with Vic Ghezzi of Inwood, N. Y. Riegel took only 58 strokes on 17 holes after recovering from a bogey five on the first.

Finsterwald, who only turned pro in 1952 and then spent about two years in the service, posted his fourth sub-par round at Sunset Country Club Sunday for a 72-hole total of 274, 14 under par. He won $5,000.

His rounds on the 6,277-yard par 34-38-72 course, swept by brisk winds each day, were 65-71-69-69.

It was Finsterwald's third tournament victory after wins at the Fort Wayne and British Columbia opens and boosted his winnings for the year to $12,395, just behind big Mike Souchak's $12,859 in the PGA listings. He was ninth prior to this tournament.

"I never saw a man chip better than Finsterwald did the last two days of the tournament," said cigar-smoking Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., who finished in a three-way second-place tie at 277 with Jack Burke Jr., Masters champ from Kiamisha Lake, N.Y., and Bill Casper Jr., Chula Vista, Calif. Each won $2,160.

Finsterwald led from opening day when he fired a 7 under par.

MAJOR LEAGUE STARS

By The Associated Press

Batting: Duke Snider, Dodgers — Clouted a pair of homers, one with the bases full, to lead the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 6-4 victory and a sweep of the three-game series with the New York Giants.

Pitching: Warren Spahn, Braves — Spaced nine hits and shut out Cincinnati 15-0 in the first game of a doubleheader for his second shutout of the season.

Marselle — Kid Gavilan, 151, Cuba, drew with Louis Trochon, 158, France, 10.

Record 989,028 Fans See '56 Cage Tourneys

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U) — Ohio's high school basketball tournaments just missed the million mark in attendance this year.

From the county tests through the state meet where Middletown and Arcapum topped the championships, a record 989,028 fans paid a record $691,273 to see the 1052 quintets in action.

The attendance figure cracked the old record of 960,700 set in 1954, and the total receipts erased the $661,281 mark established in 1955.

Growth of the annual "Jesse and out" series in the last 10 years is shown by the fact that in 1946 the attendance was 782,089 and the receipts $429,066. That's a difference of 206,949 in customers, and $262,207 in receipts.

Here's a quick look at the figures for the last 12 years, showing the attendance, receipts and the Ohio High School Athletic Assn's share of the "take":

Year Att. Repts. Ass'n

1946 570,575 $288,225 $31,286

1947 782,089 429,066 46,135

1948 871,090 497,367 49,835

1949 910,401 535,894 54,267

1950 911,977 566,171 67,746

1951 860,050 515,544 60,070

1952 862,717 558,946 62,633

1953 902,560 586,622 63,380

1954 912,094 633,634 111,045

1955 960,700 655,636 120,976

1956 989,028 691,273 121,308

Thus, in the last dozen years, the state's tournaments have attracted 10,433,354 fans who paid a total of $6,619,658, of which $922,967 went to the state association to finance his various activities.

Almost half the year's attendance, 421,159, witnessed the county tournaments this year. Oddly, the biggest Ohio county tournament attendance was attracted in Indiana, the Preble County playoffs at Richmond, Ind., drawing 14,709 fans. Wood County, with 13,577, and Marion with 11,715, were the best within the state, all the others falling under 10,000.

The sectional-district play drew 473,973 fans and receipts of $326,228. The Central District Class A meet at the state fairgrounds at Columbus here led the way with 30,739 attendance for a single site, but the Northeastern District, divided into many tournaments, was tops with a 136,811 total. Other attendances by districts were: Central 55,364, Northwestern 94,533, Southeastern 29,720, Southwestern 103,251, and Eastern 44,274.

The regionals, paced by the 15,396 attendance at Toledo where both Class A and Class B played, drew 64,415 fans. Cincinnati was close with 15,155 for its Class A contests, and Kent State was low with 3,983 for the Class B games. Canton drew 10,662, Troy 10,276, Athens 4,841 and Berea 4,102.

Although the attendance at the Cleveland state meet was announced at more than 44,000, the official report was 39,481, with gate receipts of $53,914.50. Of that total $13,478.62 went to Cleveland Arena for rental for the two-day tourney, $29,308 to the state association.

Of the remainder $1500 was paid in team bonuses, $6,004 for team expenses, $1219 for officials, timers and scorers, and $2,657 for movies taken of all games, along with other varied costs.

Robinson Favored Over Bobo Olson

By MURRAY ROSE

The Associated Press

A lightly regarded 3-1 underdog last time he met Carl (Bobo) Olson, middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson probably will be a slight choice on Friday night when he faces the Hawaiian-born ex-champ at Los Angeles.

This will be their fourth clash and if anyone has Bobo's number, Sugar Ray is the man. Robinson's record is 3-0 over Olson, including two knockouts. The last one was a lightning bolt kayo in 2:51 of the second round at Chicago Dec. 19, when Robinson proved that once in a while the old gaffers do come back.

The bout, starting at 9 p.m. (CDT), will be broadcast and telecast (NBC-TV, radio) coast to coast.

Rory Calhoun, the fighter and not the actor, is a strong, ambitious 21-year old White Plains, N. Y., middleweight who may face the likes of Robinson or Olson in another year or two. Winner of all 26 of his pro fights, 10 of them by knockouts, Calhoun is a 3-1 favorite to make it 31 at Randy Sandy's expense tonight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (DuMont-TV, 9 p.m. CDT). Sandy, 25, has a 14-3-1 record and could make Calhoun go all out.

Milan — Dullio Loi, 134½, Italy, drew with Jose Hernandez, 134½, Spain, 15.

Notre Dame's Youths Look Very Strong

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (U) — Here's a warning to Oklahoma, Michigan State, Southern Methodist, Navy, Southern Cal and those five other foes Notre Dame's football team plays next fall:

Terry Brennan's Fighting Irish may be young but they'll be awfully tough. This is the year of Irish rebuilding with only three 1955 regulars back, but Brennan apparently has some solid bricks for the rebuilding job.

No fewer than 13 potential sophomores from one of the best Irish freshman squads in several years acted as though they knew what football was all about Saturday as the varsity beat the 'Old Timers' 42-32 in their annual spring game.

Brennan used that many years' experience among the 36 players he employed against an Old Timer team which was no pushover and proved it by moving to an early 20-7 lead.

The Irish uncovered a fine array of "kid" linemen, including several real rough characters in 245-pound tackle Angelo Mosca from Waltham, Mass., 190-pound guard Al Eucyer of New Orleans, and 215-pound end Bob Wetoska of Minneapolis.

Other new names which may pop up in the Irish battle lists next fall belong to a couple of soph fullbacks, 205-pound Ron Toth, East Cleveland and Nick Pietrosante, also a 205-pounder from Ansonia, Conn.; Dick Royer, 190-pound end from Cincinnati; and a trio of tackles, 215-pound Bronko Nagurski Jr. from International Falls, Minn., Don Lawrence, 216, from Cleveland and Frank Gerniah, Sacramento, Calif.

Nagurski, son of Minnesota's immortal Bronko, and Lawrence failed to play against the Old Timers because of injuries.

Coach Brennan conceded his No. 3 Irish team, since he replaced Frank Leahy, looked fair despite mistakes of inexperience and occasional ragged play.

"We didn't concentrate too much on defense in spring practice," said Brennan, "and we tried to get as many boys as possible into the game. All things considered, the showing Saturday was not too bad."

Seasoned quarterback Paul Hornung demonstrated he should have a good final season next fall, even though he played less against the Old Timers than No. 2 signal caller Larry Cooke. Hornung really moved the Irish varsity after the Old Timers had shot ahead to their 20-7 lead.

Capt. Jimmy Morse scored two of the six varsity touchdowns and led both teams in rushing with 104 yards in 11 carries for a 9.4 average.

Deming Teams To Open Softball Play Tonight

The Deming Jets and the Deming Marvells will meet in the opening game of the Salem Softball season tonight at Kelly Park at 5:45. In the second game Eljer will meet Bliss and in the third fray in the Industrial League, Electric Furnace will tangle with Youngstown Kilchens.

The final game tonight features teams from the AA circuit. Demings and Bayard Grange meet to open the door in that league.

Games will be played every night this week except Saturday. Some of the action will take place at Centennial Park as well as Kelly Field.

FIGHT RESULTS

Paterson, N. J. — Tim Jones, 164, Plainfield, N. J., outpointed Irish Mickey McGrath, 166, Greenwich, Conn., 8.

Bologna — Francesco Cavicchi, 204, Italy, outpointed Maurice Mols, 196, France, 10.

Worcester, Mass. — Don Williams, 153½, Worcester, outpointed Tommy Nee, 147½, Boston, 10.

24 Schools To Compete Here

District B Meet To Be Held Tuesday

Northfield, last year's Class B district champs, will head the list of 24 schools entered in the meet this year, which will be held tomorrow at Reilly Field.

The first preliminary event will get underway at 3 p.m. The shot put, pole vault and the high jump will all start at 3 and the prelims and finals will be held in the afternoon. The broad jump and the discus will be run off after the pole vault and shot put are completed.

The 120 yard high hurdle prelims will start the running events off at 3 p.m. Prelim and semi-finals will be held in the dashes and hurdles and they should be completed about 5:30.

The finals will begin at 7:30 with the 120 yard high first on the schedule.

Two good duals could develop between Alan Stevens of Springfield and Harvey Tullis and Chuck Pepple of Leetonia. Stevens and Tullis will be battling for a win in the mile run, both having turned in very good times this year, and Chuck Pepple will be giving Stevens a run for his money in the pole vault. Last week Pepple cleared 11 feet 3 inches in the county meet.

The winners in the finals of each event will receive gold, silver and bronze medals for the first three places and ribbons for fourth and fifth. The first four places in each event will qualify the player for a berth in the state meet at Columbus. Points in the district meet are 6-4-3-2-1.

The shot put and discus rings at Reilly field have recently been black-topped and the B meet will be a good test run for the new arrangement. The new taping offers better footing for the participants and isn't too sloppy for competition in rainy weather.

There will be no admission for the prelims, and at the finals the charge will be 75c for adults and 35c for students.

Schedule of Events

3 p.m., Pole Vault, Prelims and Finals;

3 p.m., Shot Put, Prelims and Finals;

3 p.m., High Jump, Prelims and Finals;

Landy May Have Run Last Mile

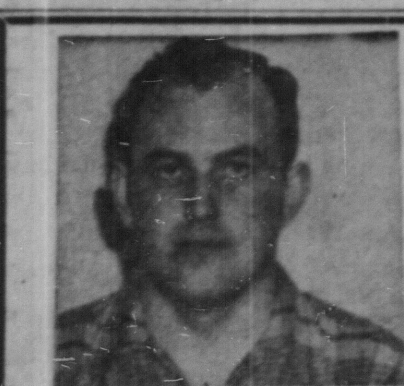

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Australia's fleet John Landy, who has run the mile six times under 4 minutes, may not give himself another chance to crack his own world record of 3:58.

The Melbourne schoolteacher flies today to Miami, Fla., for a 10-day holiday after running two under-4-minute miles in seven days in a United States visit of good will for the 1956 Olympics Games in his home country.

Landy breezed the mile in 3:59.1 Saturday night in the West Coast Relays at Fresno. Immediately after winning by more than 75 yards over Ron Delany, Irish student at Villanova, Landy said:

Recent Developments In Plaster Make Big News

There's news in plaster. You wouldn't expect it, because 10 years ago the dry wall substitutes for this prosaic building material were supposed to be putting plaster out of business. But in spite of the tocsin banging by inventors and builders who were going to save home buyers great sums by making walls out of everything from packed mud to masticated grocery boxes, plasterers just kept on troweling.

Today you can get acoustical plaster that soaks up sound like a sponge absorbs water. You can get predecorated plaster to give your walls a permanent tint that won't wash off or wear off — eliminates painting. You can use quick drying plaster to shortcut the usual waiting period for final decoration. Or you can still rely on the tried and tested three-coat plaster job that has distinguished quality construction for generations.

Gypsum, the main ingredient of modern plaster, is now being mined and quarried at a rate of about 10 million tons per year. However, you'd wonder how there could be enough left for plaster, from the way this mineral is being used. Hollywood uses it to simulate snow. Farmers have been using it for fertilizer ever since Benjamin Franklin introduced it for that use in this country. It goes into the making of face powder, dental plates, poker chips, bathroom fixtures and polish for gravestones. To meet this market, 10 new gypsum plants are scheduled to be established this year, although the stuff is as old as the Egyptians (before Nasser) and is only what we call plaster of Paris.

WHY DO WE keep on plastering walls? The Gypsum Assn. says it's because it helps to give lifetime protection to the value of your investment in a home. You can redecorate plaster over and over again — as long as you can keep up with a woman's amazing ideas. Other advantages of plaster obviously are its high fire-resistance, its durability, economy, and adaptability to any curving or arched architectural styles.

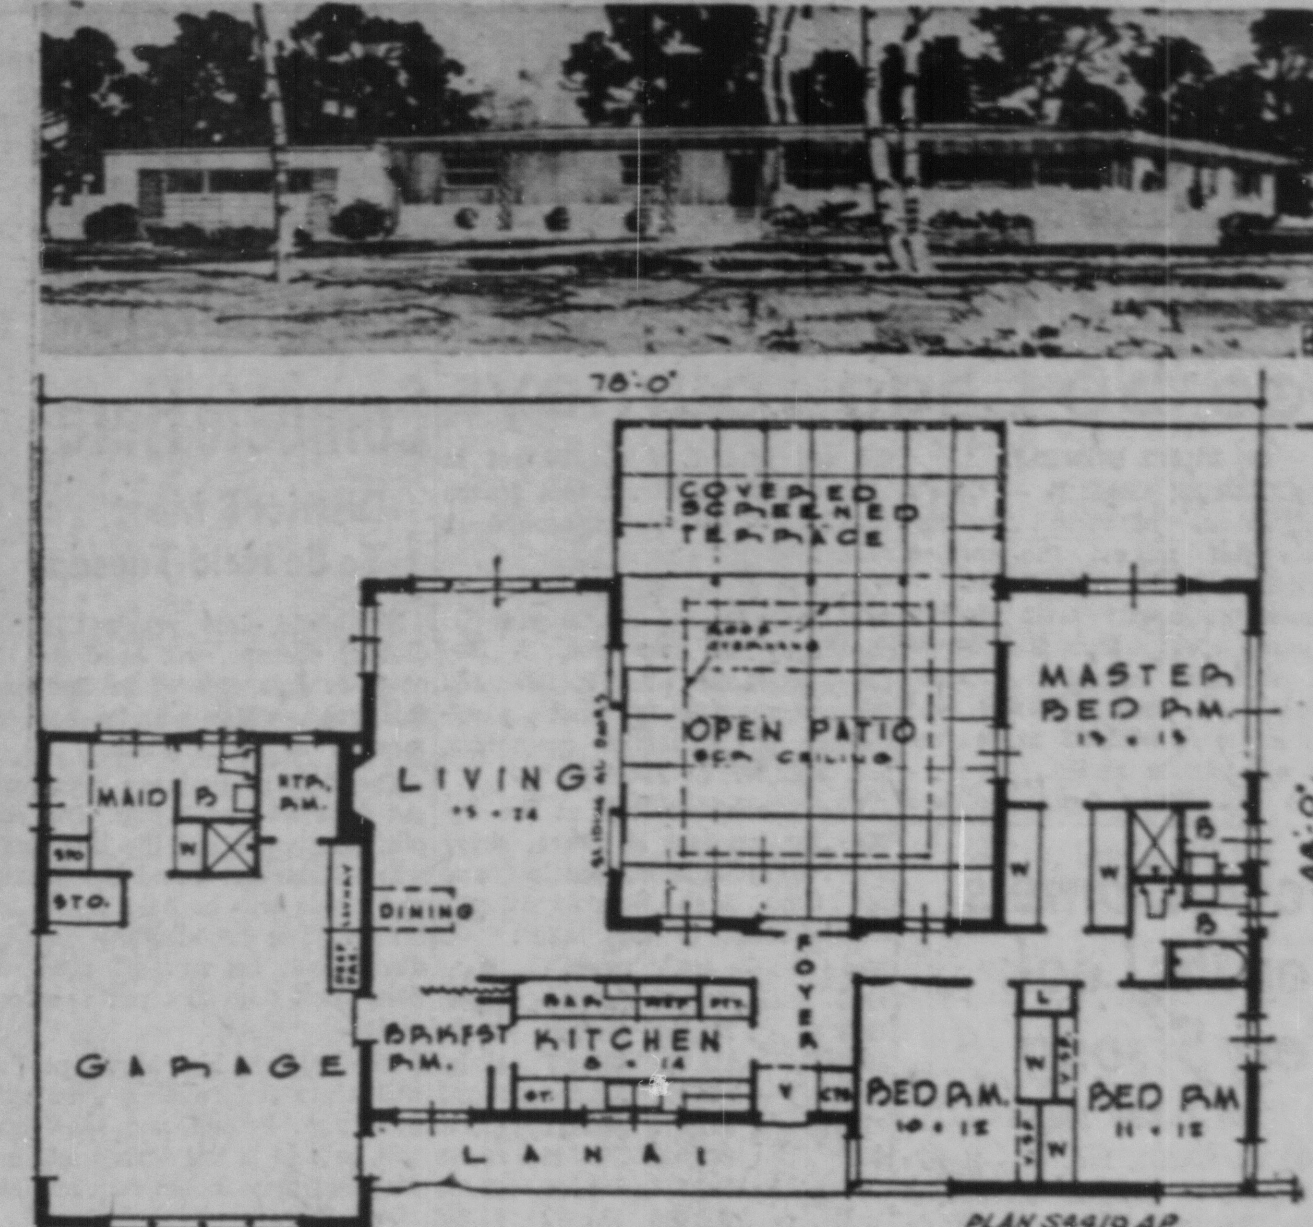

Yet, plaster isn't foolproof. Like everything else that goes into building a house, it gives the best results when both material and workmanship are right. For one thing you have to have a good base to hold the plaster.

Wood lath was a time-honored base. The plaster could bulge through spaces between the lath and lock itself on the wall. But as the lath and the framing lumber shrunk and warped, movement inevitably opened excessive cracks in the plaster. So metal lath and gypsum lath were invented. Metal lath, resembling coarse screening, provides a continuous locking base. Gypsum lath, both in solid panels and in perforated form to create locks through holes has an affinity for plaster and adds a fireproof backing.

One of the latest developments in gypsum lath is a form with an aluminum foil backing. This gives you a bonus of reflective insulation when at least 3/4-inch of air space is left open in the wall behind the foil. It also creates an automatic vapor barrier, which is highly important in modern homes.

FOR EXAMPLE, here we are in the midst of a new house painting season. If you notice peeling and blistering of paint, particularly on the north side of your house, don't think that it is necessarily caused by leaky outer walls. Chances are that the moisture pushing that paint off comes from inside the house. Normal washing, cooking and bathing in an average-size house adds as much as 2 1/2 gallons of water to the air.
Being a gas, vapor is invisible until it condenses. Natural pressure pushes it through walls and ceilings. When it reaches a dew point it turns to water and when it freezes in the insulation, or sheathing or siding on a house, you have trouble.

This is why aluminum-backed gypsum lath for plaster can spare you from a lot of headaches, including mildew and rot within walls. You can save a lot of money in the long run by sealing inner walls so tightly that you'll notice fog on the window panes — a signal to ventilate — before you inadvertently spray 2 1/2 gallons of water through your walls.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q — A California cousin sent me some Gloriosa lily bulbs. What are they and when and how should they be planted?

A — Gloriosa, the glory lily, is a colorful summer blooming vine plant with lily-like red and yellow flowers. They grow to about five feet and require a wall or trellis, for they need support. Because the tubers take a long time to sprout, they should be potted indoors now and transplanted to the garden in mid-May. They need a sandy soil enriched with compost or peat moss. Dig up tubers in fall and store in dry sand or peat moss through winter.
— Please suggest several good annuals for cutting.

A — Almost any annual can be used as a cut flower. However, my selection would include asters, snapdragons, carnations, larkspur, baby's breath, marigolds, nasturtium, salpiglossis, zinnias and cockscomb.

Q — What can one expect to harvest from a 100-foot row, say of beans, beets, carrots, onions, tomatoes?

A — The yield from 100-foot rows of the following are: beans, 50 pounds; beets, 100 pounds; carrots, 100 pounds; onions two bushels; tomatoes, six bushels.

Q — Do raspberries require any special soil? Ours is a fairly heavy clay and, the location being high, drainage is no problem.

A — Raspberries grow well in almost any soil. The ground is best prepared by digging under rotted manure or compost. The more organic matter in the soil the better, as it serves to hold moisture. Plans are best grown in rows, supported by wires strung horizontally between posts. Set plants 2 feet apart.

Hardwood Flooring On Concrete Slab Popular

Hardwood flooring over concrete slabs is becoming popular. This is laid over a subfloor nailed to sleepers or screeds which have been treated with preservative and laid in mastic. Air circulation under the floor is advantageous.

A slab to be covered with wood flooring should be poured over a bed of cinders or washed gravel. Waterproof membrane comprising two layers of 15-pound asphalt felt, mopped with hot asphalt pitch and carried up the walls at least 6 inches behind baseboards, should cover the underfill before the slab is poured.

For Beauty, Shade, Nothing Beats A Tree

By HENRY FREE

Every state in the Union, plus the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, observes an Arbor Day sometime during the year. In Florida, the day set aside is the third Friday in January, in Arkansas the first Saturday in December. Many of the northern and western states observe the last Friday in April. The first approach to Arbor Day in America occurred in 1828 when President John Quincy Adams became alarmed over the diminishing supply of live oak timber and launched a forest project designed to provide for the future live oak needs of the U.S. Navy.

Live oak was the finest wood for the framework of ships. Unfortunately, the undertaking was short-lived. President Adams was succeeded by Andrew Jackson and the incoming administration made short work of the planting by terminating it in 1831.

President Adams, in his thinking, was far ahead of his time. However, thanks to the untiring efforts of J. Sterling Morton, Arbor Day was instituted in Nebraska in 1872 as a day for planting trees, "both for shade and for wood."

President Cleveland helped the cause in 1893 by appointing Morton secretary of agriculture. Since that time states have set aside a day or two each year for the observance of Arbor Day.

But no matter what state you live in or when Arbor Day is observed, the message should ring clear. Plant trees. Plant the best for trees are an investment which, if properly taken, will return countless dividends in beauty and shade.

The National Arborists Association offers this guide.

The trend in shade trees is to diversify the species, mixing little trees with big. Avoid fast-growing species (Such as poplar, silver maple, sycamore, Chinese elm and catalpa. It is amazing how tall an oak will grow in a few years.

Shun brittle trees that break during a hurricane. Don't plant trees that clutter lawns with fruit, flowers and sloughed-off bark. Beware of trees whose root systems clog drain pipes. Grass will do poorly beneath dense shade trees with shallow roots which compete with turf.

Different trees have different uses, advises Dr. Rush P. Marshall, director of the F. A. Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories in Stamford, Conn. For dense shade choose a sugar maple, white oak, little leaf linden, beech, American ash or horse chestnut.

For medium shade: pin oak, red oak, red maple, white ash, American linden, sweet or sour gum, London plane. For light, filtered shade: thornless honey locust, gingko, English oak or hackberry.

Trees should also be selected for height. Trees that reach 50 feet or more at maturity include: white, red and scarlet oak, sugar maple and tulip tree.

Medium sized trees (up to 50 feet): red maple, pin oak, sweet and sour gum, yellowwood, gingko, white ash, London plane, linden. Small trees (to 30 feet): dogwood, magnolia, native birches, Washington hawthorn, sorrel and flowering crabapple.

Make sure the tree you select is tolerant to your region.

A GOOD FLOOR

A sound subfloor is highly important when a hardwood finish floor is planned. The subfloor should be softwood, surfaced on one or both sides. The boards should be 25-32-inch thick and not over 8 inches wide, laid diagonally with at least two tenpenny nails at each joint and at each board end. Kiln dried lumber is preferred. Green or wet boards will shrink and open cracks in the finish hardwood floor.

Russia Reported Set To Close All Its Concentration Camps

MOSCOW (U.P.)—A high secret police official says the Soviet Union will abolish its concentration camps within the next 18 months.

He told a group of visiting French Socialists the change would leave only ordinary prisons and "corrective labor colonies" for errant Russians.

The official, whose name could not be disclosed, gave the French Socialists a rundown of Soviet penal plans during their visit to the Tula corrective labor camp 80 miles south of Moscow. It holds nonpolitical prisoners such as thieves and murderers.

He said the corrective labor camps would contain factories where the convicts would work. They could not be sent to outside projects as is done in the concentration camps, he explained.

Already, the official said, deportation of Soviet citizens to distant sections is forbidden, except for those convicted of serious political crimes. And deportation even in those cases, he said, can come only after trial by normal court procedure.

The official said a special commission has been ordered to review sentences of persons convicted of political, counterrevolutionary and state crimes, and to rehabilitate the innocent—all by October.

Associated Press foreign news analyst William L. Ryan writes: The new Soviet Union restrictions on concentration camps and forced deportation obviously are designed to make the Communist leadership popular at home and respectable abroad.

It is one of a series of recent moves. The goal is to create a favorable atmosphere for pushing the Soviet campaign of peaceful coexistence and a broad united front with foreign Socialists, the aim being to work together to put a stop to Western rearmament.

Showdown Near Bath Fixtures Offer Contrast

Eden Heads For Sharp Parliament Grilling

LONDON (U.P.)—Prime Minister Eden mapped government strategy for tonight's showdown Parliament session on his handling of the strange case of the missing British frogman and the Soviet warships.

Eden was headed for a sharp grilling in the House of Commons debate.

Angry leaders of the Labor opposition want to know just what retired naval diver Lionel Crabb—a World War II hero—was doing in the icy waters of Portsmouth Harbor near the Russian warships that brought Premier Bulganin and party chief Nikita Khrushchev to Britain.

When the question first came up in Commons last week, Eden said Crabb was operating "without authorization" and that it would not be in the nation's best interests to say more.

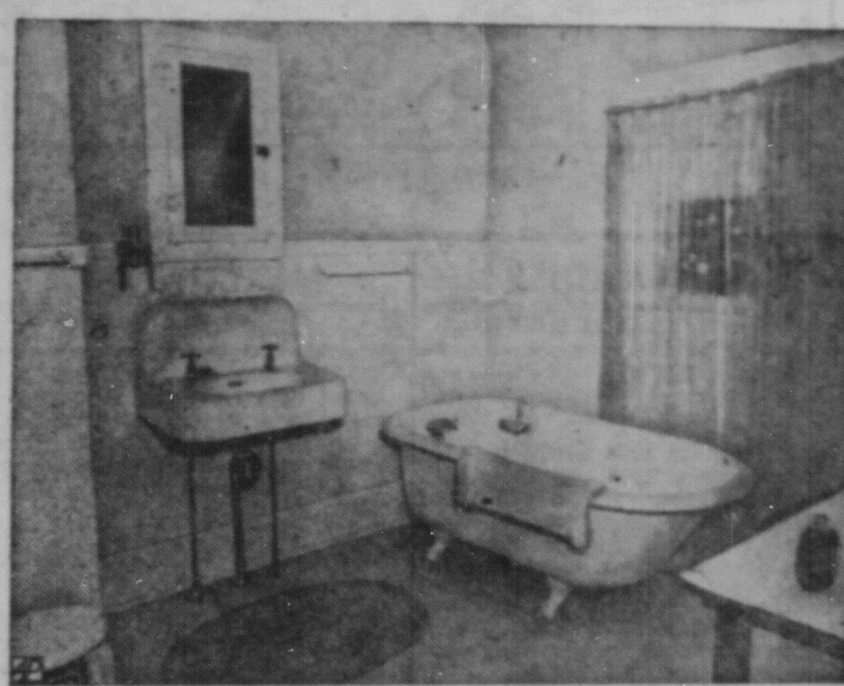

The Russians insist the diver was spying. The British press generally has agreed.

Eden said the retired naval officer was "testing underwater apparatus" and refused to go into details. In the debate tonight, Laborite legislators hoped to force Eden into supplying the details. Crabb was seen swimming near the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze and two accompanying vessels April 19—the day after "B and K" arrived in Britain.

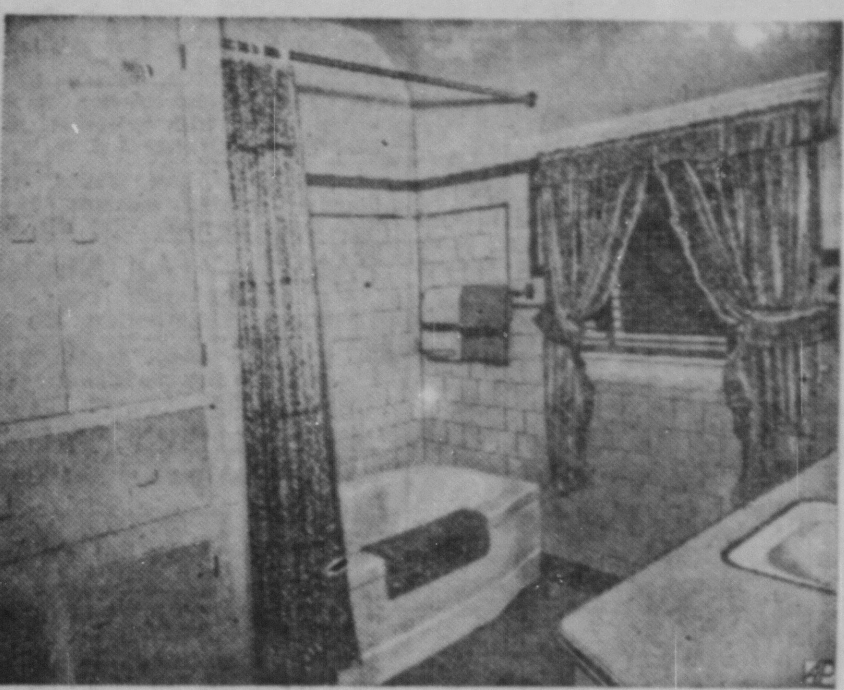

He has not been seen since. The Admiralty said he was "presumed dead," but didn't explain why that was presumed.

Gleanings of information here and there have built up this puzzling account of the events that led up to Crabb's disappearance. The diver and a "Mr. Smith" arrived at the port of Portsmouth April 17 and checked in at the Sollyport Hotel. From the hotel Crabb wrote his aged mother that he was "going on a job, but it's a simple mission." He told her not to worry and that he'd be back in about two days.

The following day the Soviet ships pulled into port. On April 20 the Soviet commander, Rear Adm. V. F. Kotov, questioned British Rear Adm. P. W. Burnett about a mysterious frogman Soviet sailors had spotted surfacing near the visiting ships. Burnett said he knew nothing about it.

A day later a British police official removed four pages from the Sollyport Hotel register, including the registration of Crabb and Smith.

The British Admiralty announced April 29 that Crabb had presumably died nine days earlier. It gave no details and no death certificate was issued.

The British say they "deeply regret" the whole affair and obviously hope the Kremlin will let it drop.

New Car Inventories Mount Despite Production Cutback

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—Despite almost unprecedented April production cutbacks, new car inventories have continued to mount.

The monthly survey of Automotive News showed today that on May 1 dealers throughout the country had 902,270 new cars jammed in warehouses and storage lots or in transit from the factories. The total compares with an April 1 figure of 896,669 units and is only 1,519 units below the record total set March 1 this year.

The auto makers built fewer cars in April than in March—547,600 units compared with 575,500—in the effort to reduce retail stocks. Most industry analysts expected production cutbacks through April to bring a reduction in inventories.

Failure of the reduction to materialize, they now say, emphasizes that the sales sag has been more serious than most industry sources realized.

On May 1 a year ago dealer inventories stood at 763,041 cars.

Factory production in the first four months of 1956 came to 2,879,000 cars. Factory output for the January-April period this year was cut to 2,291,000.

The auto industry customarily operates at near peak levels at this season. April production last year came to 754,077 cars.

Most auto industry experts are agreed there will be no comparable production volume in any month this year. There still are some, however, who insist the industry's total output for 1956 will come very close to the 6,666,000 units that made 1950 second best in industry history.

Last year's total assemblies of slightly more than 7,920,000 cars probably will stand as the record for many years to come. Retail deliveries last year were recorded at 7,200,000.

That sales volume was achieved largely through price slashing at the retail level, with extraordinary effort during the model cleanup period.

Woman Crippled By Polio Shoots, Kills Husband

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—A mother crippled by polio hobbled on crutches to a neighbor's home Sunday to report she had shot and killed her husband.

Policeman Jack Barry said Mrs. Naomi Larimer, 33, related that she fired a shotgun at her husband's chest because he was drunk and abusive.

She was held without charge.

Mrs. Larimer and her husband, Noble, 33-year-old laborer, had two children, 3 years and 21 months.

Damascus Garden Club Postpones Trip To Mentor

DAMASCUS — Due to inclement weather Thursday the Damascus Garden Club postponed its trip to the Holden Arboretum in Mentor until a later date.

The club went to the College Inn in Alliance for lunch, and returned to the president, Mrs. C. T. Shreve's home to hold a business meeting.

A contribution will be given the School Board for their permission to use the school auditorium for the card party.

Two new members, Mrs. Wilson Morlan and Mrs. Myron West were voted into the club as active members.

Mrs. Bernard Ostrosky, vice president, told of the origin of the odorless marigold and the transplanting of tulips.

Members are planning to attend the Spring Flower Show May 28 of the Salem Garden Club. Mrs. Shreve asked Mrs. Harold Brown to enter an arrangement at this show.

A workshop day will be held June 14 with Mrs. Rex Israel as the instructor, and Mrs. George Stanford hostess. Members are asked to bring their own work shop material and flowers.

The meeting will start at 10 a.m.

with a picnic lunch to be held at noon.

Mrs. V. K. Ramsey of Alliance spent Wednesday with Mrs. C. E. Stanley.

Darlene Mitchell, who has been ill for a week, was admitted to the Salem Clinic for treatment.

The place of the meeting of the Damascus W.C.T.U. has been changed to the home of Mrs. Zola Miles, May 17, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Lois Schell of Indiana called on Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Linton.

MEET ED BARNES, STEELWORKER

When the United States Information Agency sought a man to typify an average American industrial worker in a project to debunk Communist propaganda abroad in the cold war, the agency chose a Pennsylvania steelworker. He is James Edward Barnes, of Morrisville, Pa., millwright in a steel plant.

A massive exhibit, consisting of 27 enlarged color photographs of the normal living routine of the Barnes family, has been sent to Japan and the Far East to acquaint the millions in other countries with the American worker's way of life. First displayed by The Advertising Council in Washington, the exhibit eventually will be sent around the world. Just a few of the pictures are shown here.

The Barnes home, car and family — all modern, all typical. Inside the house Mrs. Barnes' kitchen and laundry are equipped with labor-saving electrical appliances. The modern school is not far away. And Ed is planning more education for the children than he himself got in trade and high schools.

As a millwright Ed ranged all over the big mill. Here he's signaling a crane operator. He liked his job, figured to "go places" in the mill. He did, too. He was recently promoted to foreman.

The mortgage on Ed's new home, the payments on the car and the family bills get squared away on payday. Then Ed stops around at the bank to add a few dollars to the growing nest egg.

Like any typical young father of three, Ed finds work to be done even after he gets home — and he loves it. Tricky project, too, helping assemble the boy's model airplane.

Mrs. Barnes takes charge of the big job of keeping plenty of wholesome food on hand for the household of five. And, often as not, the whole five go to market and help shop.
